Ready for action thru education— JHS picked up the theme in the fall, and good teachers directed their plans toward the needs of the new age.

Good students caught on quickly; an age of atoms, missiles, and space cadets was already calling for their ability and talent. What wonders of the world await our new graduates! But we need not fear. We can place our faith and trust in these boys and girls who will be ready for action—thru education.

English Classes Set the Pace

English students of today are ready for action through a wide course of study. Literature from the Anglo-Saxons to Winston Churchill is reviewed. Poetry, essays, and short stories are presented to the classes as they become better acquainted with the great English writers. The students are exposed to a sampling of every type of writing. From light humor to serious drama, the complete treasure of English literature is unfolded.

This increased knowledge of fine writings prompts many students to attempt original stories and poems. Throughout the year themes and essays may be submitted to various contests. Oral composition is not neglected, and students gain in poise, by practicing the fundamentals of speaking before an audience. Movies are frequently shown to both juniors and seniors to illustrate many of the subjects taught in class.

Increased vocabularies and a deeper appreciation of literature are the results, as English students conclude a successful and busy year.

History Records the Dawn of Man to Space Probes

Man and his struggles through the centuries are discussed in the History Department at JHS. Students learn of each era in detail. Courses include Problems of Democracy, American history, Ancient history, English history, economics and World history.

In Problems of Democracy, special emphasis is placed on problems of government. Mr. Milan Svitchan's Honor classes participated in debates and other special projects.

The American history classes stress the colonial struggles and the establishment of our democracy. Considerable time is spent in teaching the fundamentals of the presidential administrations.

In Ancient history, we study the Stone Age, the Bronze Age, and the Iron Age. Students search for factual knowledge in the unknown past of ancient civilizations.

The trials and tribulations of England are taught in English history by Mrs. Margaret Bowes, chairman of the department. The lives of many queens and kings are revealed.

Economics is the scientific study of man's making and spending money. Students study the economic problems of the country and learn of the necessity of a sound economic system.

World history is a summary of all the history courses. Special attention is given to the United States' stand in world affairs.

Eager students readily accept the challenges offered by the coming space age. Perhaps history is writing her final chapter, as JHS students become ready for action in the space age.

From Students to Secretaries Go the Commercials

Taking dictation, transcribing, typing, filing, bookkeeping, and clerical work are the many jobs learned by the students in the Commercial Department of Johnstown High School.

Awards for typing, transcribing, bookkeeping and filing are offered to everyone and anyone who applies himself and really works for the award.

When being interviewed for a job, as many of the students are, these awards serve as references and show the employer the person's ability.

The work program is another advantage for students who try their best. In January many business organizations come to the department head, Miss Kathryn A. Long, and ask for girls to work in their offices. Work one-half day and go to school one-half day is the schedule the lucky seniors have who get jobs on this work program.

Also hard at work are the other commercials. Learning their tricks of the trade are the students who have bookkeeping, and clerical courses. In the clerical room, students learn how to operate full-key and ten-key adding machines, mimeographs, dictaphones, comptometers, and ditto machines.

Commercial students are "ready for action" at the end of the year when they are able to go into the business world and get a job of their own.

Pianos, Props and Paints

Music, dramatics and art help our Johnstown High students to be prepared for action while they have fun learning.

Under the direction of Miss Joan Puhala, students of dramatics explore all phases of the acting art. They learn the importance of everyone in the world of entertainment. The presentation of a Thanksgiving play, a Christmas assembly program, and the class play are undertaken by these groups of students.

Mr. Charles Aikey and Mr. Carl Miller are ready to help anyone express himself by using the wonderful world of music. There are many activities such as Band, Girls' Chorus, Orchestra, Mixed Chorus and theory and appreciation classes for the further development of musical talent.

Applying the basic rules of color schemes and the fundamentals of art, the students in 410 learn to criticize their own creations. Helping each realize his own ability is Mrs. Josephine Quigley.

Students of art learn there are many techniques that may be applied to produce a creative piece of work. The young artist tries working with a variety of materials from charcoal to water color or blockprinting to leather tooling.

Students Reap Knowledge Through Books

On the third floor in room 313, students can find the Johnstown High School Library, where they can read anything from cavemen stories to those of modern astronauts.

Any student who has entered the library cannot deny that at one time or other, he has had to seek the help of Mrs. Rachel Georg, librarian, whether for material to complete an assignment or for requesting a book.

Clinging to the walls of 313 are over 8,000 books and 75 magazines. In order to locate the various books, students are taught to use the Reader's Guide, the Card Catalog and the Dewey Decimal System.

If students cannot find what they want, they may turn for aid to any one of the 41 staff members, Mrs. Georg, or Mrs. Carmela Falvo, who is the clerk in the library.

There is a back file for five years on each magazine and three daily newspapers are kept for a one-week period.

Mr. Frank Weaver instructs class in Aeronautics

Aviators of Tomorrow

The two aeronautics classes, under the direction of Mr. Frank Weaver, daily convey the ideals of flight. The course of study is divided into two semesters. During the first semester a knowledge of meteorology, aerodynamics, and recognition of aircraft is gained. The remainder of the year is then devoted to plotting courses, map reading, and radio navigation.

Many interesting movies and speakers round out the course which lays the groundwork of air education in the minds of the JHS students. In addition to the regular class discussions, illustrations are drawn by Mr. Weaver to further explain the detailed principles of flight. Also in his spare time, Mr. Weaver, an expert flier himself, instructs his students by giving actual flight lessons.

Mathematics - The Key to the Future

In the ever-changing world of today, there is an increasing demand for personnel with profound mathematical knowledge.

Aware of the demand for accurate engineers, accountants, business executives, etc., the Mathematics Department of Johnstown High School is continually striving for new and better methods to develop skill; skills which will be demanded in the future years. By developing a program which will attract and train more pupils, mathematics instructors are playing a major role in moving America forward.

Classified as subjects coming under the jurisdiction of the Mathematics Department are algebra, plane geometry, solid geometry, general mathematics, and aeronautics. For students who plan on entering the field of engineering, trigonometry is offered.

Again this year, the Mathematics Department is headed by Mr. Ralph Gillman. Other members of the faculty teaching mathematics are Miss Thelma Fetterman, Miss Mary Solarczyk, Mr. Edward Podrasky, and Mr. Frank Weaver.

JHS Keeps in Step with the Times

The JHS Chemistry Honors class has 24 members on its role. Fourteen of these are girls and ten are boys. All are juniors.

Of this group 14 are in one honors class, 11 are in two honors classes, and 4 are in more than two.

It is interesting to note that 21 of this group are anticipating college, two will enter the service and one take up nursing.

The honors class studies the same material as the other classes but more in detail. However, if a student, or students in the group, show unusual ability, they are encouraged to go as fast and as far as they wish, with supervision.

Miss Louise Kunkle is the instructor of the chemistry honors group.

Plotters of Progress

Hard work and timeless effort were combined to make this year's Science Department more worthwhile and interesting to the students.

With the co-operation of the administration of JHS, the students were well-equipped to meet and better understand the lessons presented to them. Tape recorders, film projectors and polaroid cameras were only a few of the many aids that helped them to put their best foot forward.

The curricula was divided mainly into three parts: experimentation, individual projects, and testing programs. A highlight of this year's Science Department was the entering of various individual projects at the Johnstown High School Science Fair.

The students, themselves, have contributed much to the success of the department. An intelligent, capable and ambitious body, they may well plot the path that leads to a successful future.

Well-equipped facilities, an excellent curricula program, and a capable student body comprised this year's Science Department. Herein, lies the solution to our future problems.

To sew a fine seam is the job of this class

Snip and Tuck

The colorful, versatile skirts and vests you can't seem to buy, probably came from the laboratory of clothing research, room 225.

This laboratory, under the direction of Mrs. Gloria Fenik, engages in making the modern girl of J.H.S. more attractive.

Classes begin by having the girls choose a simple pattern. The pattern is shosen to enhance their personality and best features.

Mrs. Fenik guides the girls through the process of cutting out the pattern, basting, and hemming, with most up-to-date techniques.

Some of the girls like to make simple skirts, vests, and jumpers, but they gradually progress to suits, dresses, and many other more complicated garments.

The sewing course not only includes the creating of clothes, but also the different ways one might sew a fine seam. The clothing students are then taught the proper art of pressing garments. They learn how to walk with good posture to make themselves as attractive as the clothes they wear.

Perhaps a clothing problem is troubling you. For helpful advice ask Mrs. Fenik or one of her advancing seamstresses.

How to be a good hostess is all part of the training

Girls in Cooking Class learn way to a man's heart

Mops, Menus and Meals

You don't have to travel to Mars to smell the delightful aroma of cooking food. Here at JHS our homemaking girls are preparing many delicacies that would send the Martians down to Earth. In preparation for cooking, Miss Norma Oliverio, instructor, gives the girls a well-rounded background of a homemaker's duties. In her Homemaking I classes, a thorough study of the laundry, cleaning, management, nutrition, meal planning, table setting and etiquette precedes the actual food preparation.

In these various units JHS girls learn how to buy food, to plan correct menus, to budget their time and money and to clean equipment after the meal has been prepared. The climax comes when the girls put all their learning to use and prepare meals.

In addition to Homemaking I classes, Miss Oliverio also teaches a special class of girls who plan to enter nursing. This class is given the same background in homemaking with more emphasis placed on nutrition. Toward the end of the school year, a unit on special problems is taught. In this course the importance of special diets is stressed to prepare the girls for their duties as nurses.

The sound of jumbled voices often heard in room 302 this year was not disorderly confusion. Instead, Spanish students were practicing their conversations in groups about the classroom.

Miss Helen Lockard, their instructor, speaks Spanish fluently and therefore proved to be a great help to her students throughout the year. Habla usted espanol? Do you speak Spanish?

Miss Leila Calderwood, the French instructor, began her classes with a friendly, "Bonjour, mes amis. Commencons, nos etudes," or "Hello, my class. Let's begin our studies." Her students responded with lively conversation. They enjoyed studying French culture and history.

In the Latin classes, especially third year Latin, students were taught Roman culture and philosophy by their competent teacher, Miss Ruth Hetrick. Often she repeated the words of a famous Roman scholar: "Esse quam videri," which means "to be, rather than to seem to be."

JHS Girls Ready for Action

Activity was no stranger to the girls' gym of Johnstown High. The gym got a thorough work-out this year as endless gym classes and extra-curricular events took place there.

The gym, primarily used for physical education classes each day, was host to a part of the female population of JHS. The girls began the year with a series of exercises to tone up the body. Following this, games in volleyball, softball and basketball were played. Tumbling was also included in this busy schedule. All rules of these games were taught and supervised by the instructors, Mrs. Mary Minium and Mrs. Jacqueline Marra.

The girls' gym was also host to many after school get-togethers. Included in those were dances, parties, basketball games, and wrestling matches. The cheerleaders and band also made use of the gym, by using it for practice several nights a week.

Our Able-Bodied Boys

Every year the boys of JHS look forward to their two periods a week in gym. The physical education instructor, Mr. Michael Garbinski, makes this class exciting and interesting.

The year opens with calisthenics and wiffle ball games. Then wrestling and volleyball take the scene with tests given on both. Moving into the middle of the year, basketball takes over. The class is usually divided into six teams and these teams alternate playing half-court. The winning team plays until they are beaten. Towards the latter part of the school year, the activities are tumbling and gymnastics. Cage ball, pasan ball, and various other games are played throughout the year.

Six physical fitness tests are given each year. They consist of chin-ups, sit-ups, and the 150-yard shuttle run.

Gym class at JHS is a combination of fun and hard work. Although fun usually prevails, this is a very important part of a student's education.

Young Mechanics Ready, Willing, and Able

The boys in the Auto Body Shop, supervised by Mr. Frank Krall, have a working knowledge of all the different parts of today's automobiles.

Using the acetylene torch and oxy welding make up the first part of the year's work. From there, the boys learn about the tank, gauges, tips, and hoses. Another phase of their shop work is to learn the forty or fifty panels of a car.

Not all of the work deals with the technical side of a car, however. The boys also learn to change a tire (if they don't already know), bump out fenders, and the general care and reconditioning of cars.

Another feature of the shop is the special room set aside for painting. The unique feature of this room is its own special air system.

Young Boys Become Young Printers

Rooms 121-125 are the sight of the presses. Under the supervision of Mr. Joseph Coyle and his assistant, Mr. Kenneth Artice, the machines are guided by the boys of the Print Shop.

By learning the essentials of printing, these boys prepare themselves for what may be their future occupation. Such lessons as machine composition, platen presswork, and cylinder presswork are taught to the boys.

Along with the printing of the "Centralizer", the boys print such essential material as the report cards, the admits, the record sheets and the bulletins. They also take care of programs for commencement and plays.

The administration asks that the young printers have a desire to make printing their career if they enroll in the Print Shop.

Who knows? The papers of the space age may be printed by the inkers of today.

Machinists of the Future

Every day a group of boys cross through the tunnel from the main building of JHS to go to the Machine Shop.

They exchange their school tools, such as pencils and books, for machine tools such as calipers, micrometers, etc.

The instructor in Machine Shop is Mr. William Allen. His method of teaching is "learning by doing." Since the boys are surrounded by machines, they are taught to handle their equipment safely. For safety, instead of speed, is the keynote of a successful Machine Shop.

Some of the boys will become machinists, for others it is a starting point for many different careers in today's heavily mechanized business world, including the reading and laying out of blue prints.

The boys have learned to cut stock, set up machines, and make many different articles useful around the shop and their homes.

Electric Shop Boys

Electric Shop Boys Ready for Challenge

The Electric Shop of JHS, under the direction of Mr. Anthony Bradic, gives the students knowledge of the fundamentals of electricity.

The boys not only learn about electricity to prepare themselves for a job in the future, but to know what to do when an emergency arises at home. Knowing just how a circuit is wired and the makeup of a light switch is invaluable when something goes wrong at home.

For their chosen vocation, the boys learn to rewind motors and generators. They are familiar with the wiring of transformers, buggers, bells, radios, and other electrical machinery.

As we progress into the Space Age, the field of electronics will continue to present a challenge to the minds of our people. The boys of the Electric Shop are ready to meet that challenge.

65 Boys Into the Auto World

Auto Machine Shop is located in the Cochran Junior High School. Mr. Charles E. Thomas and Mr. Frank L. Meyers, Jr. are the boys' instructors.

There are now 65 "grease monkeys" taking the course. This is what the boys are nicknamed.

Mr. Thomas and Mr. Meyers start the boys out by teaching text book fundamentals. Theory is studied during the year, and 30-45 minutes time is given to this phase of training. They then go into practical work on automobiles and shop set-ups.

The course will be a definite advantage to those who have been sincere in their selection. These boys have chosen the course because they wish to find their future in the automobile world.

In Auto Machine Shop, the boys learn information concerning battery chargers, transmissions, generator testors, etc.

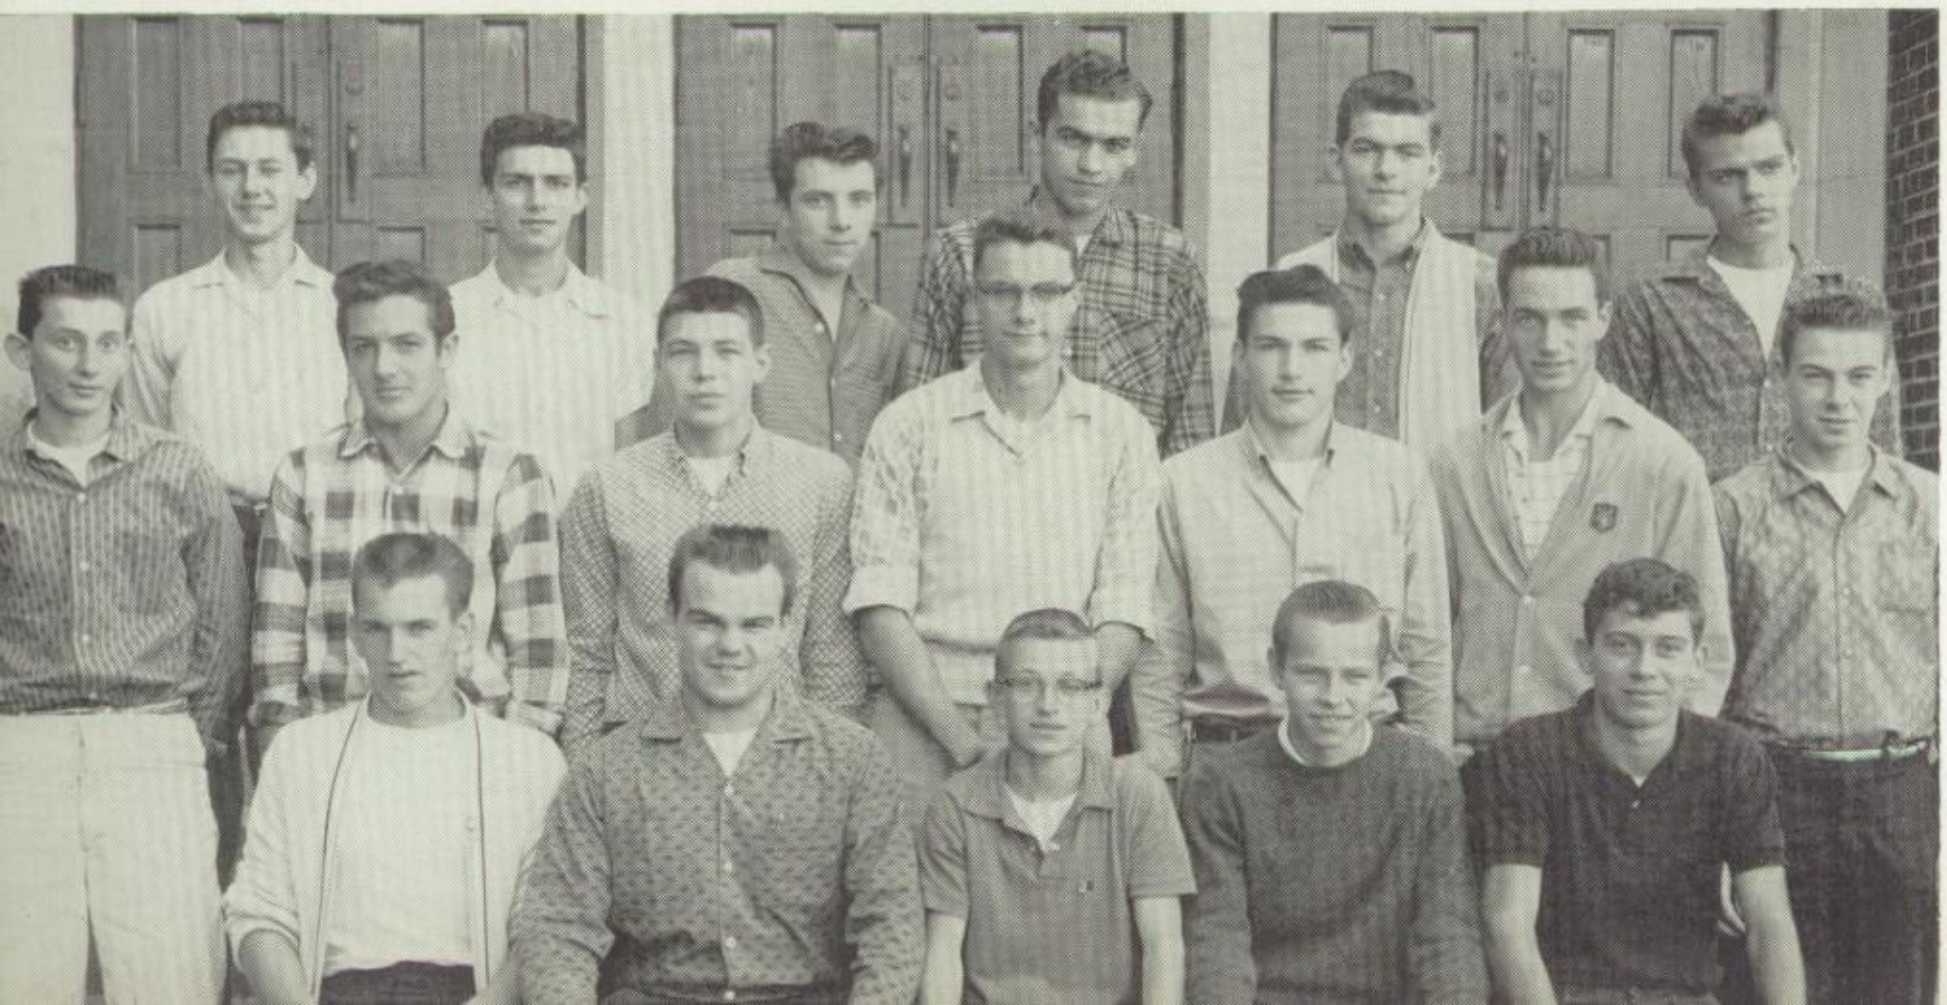
Sheet Metal Shop boys

"Metal Men" Prepare for Future

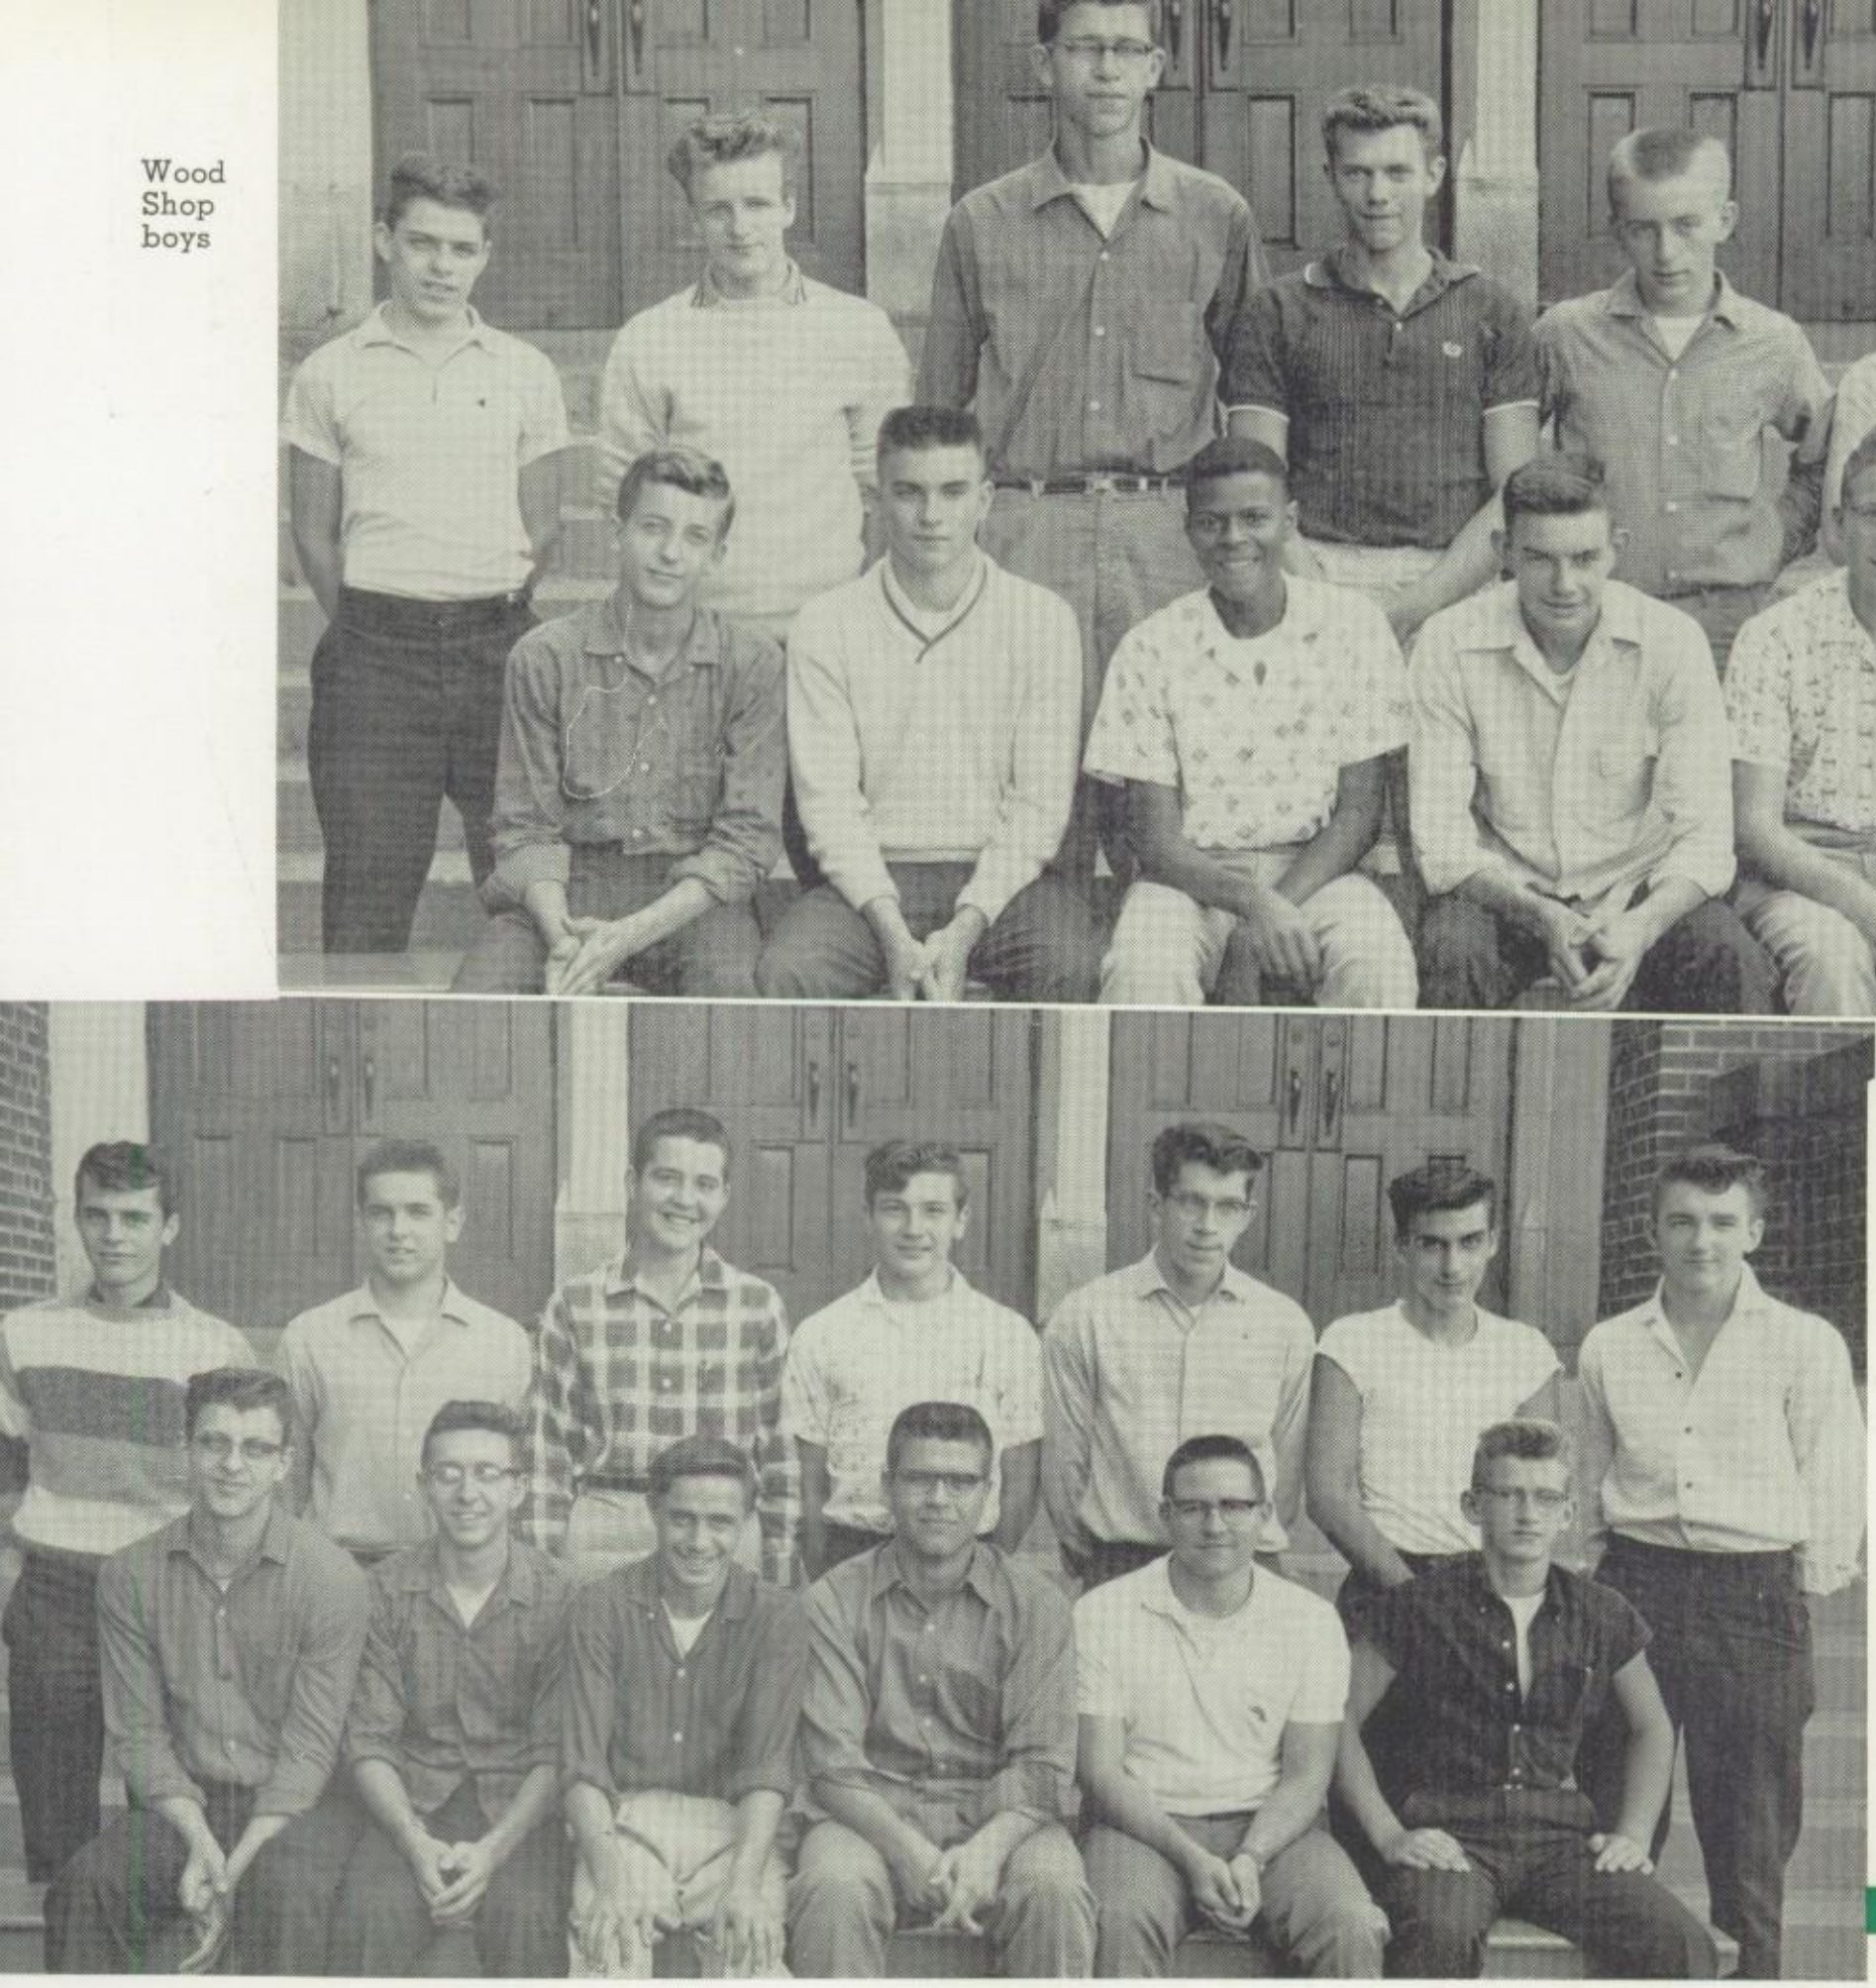
With the coming space-age, there will be a demand for new metals and men to work with them. The boys of the Sheet Metal Shop, under the direction of Mr. Bruce Alter, are getting a head start for the future.

At the beginning of the year, the boys make small articles like dustpans. By the end of the term, the "metal men" have learned to bend, arch, and weld certain kinds of metals.

Since the need for new kinds of metal and the demand for men to work with these metals is so great, the boys of Sheet Metal Shop can be sure of a good job and a future in the Age of Space.



Wood Shop boys



Tomorrow's Carpenters Work Hard Today

The course of cabinetmaking is an advanced course taught in the senior high school. After completing the course, the boys are ready to take on any job that has something to do with wood. The shop is complete with all types of industrial machines and the boys learn to operate each type of machine.

The major products that the boys produced this year were a gavel for the Medical-Careers Club, 75 desks for the elementary schools, the cupboards for the science laboratory in the junior high school, and the new trophy case at JHS.

Not only is this course valuable in that it might result in a career, but also the course gives a boy interest in the art of woodwork. He now can take on some job at home which needs the hands of a carpenter. Or he is ready to face the world with the experience and training he has received in the Wood Shop. Mr. Robert Anderson is instructor.

Drafting Class develops accuracy

Pencils In Action

Guided by the instruction of Mr. J. Ross Weaver, the drafting classes teach the basic requirements necessary for a career in the drafting world. Each day such words as "completeness, exactness and neatness" are used in helping the boys produce a better quality drawing.

With their basic tools of pencil, paper and T-square, the students not only learn the essentials of drafting, but apply their knowledge in making projects for the school.

Supplied with the latest equipment, each boy has his own assortment of instruments, ranging from calipers to a ruler for which he is responsible.

This year a new system was put into effect. The academic students, or boys considering college, were put into the morning classes for five periods a week. In the afternoon the vocational boys, students planning on going from high school into industry, occupied the high, sturdy stools.

Mr. Weaver pointed out that a thorough knowledge of mathematics is vital to a successful career in the drafting industry, a career with many opportunities for the well-trained student.

They Feed Us and Keep Our School Clean

What would JHS be like without the people who feed us and keep our school clean? The cafeteria at JHS reflects the hard work and service of these unsung heroes.

First in line to take a bow are the cooks, headed by Miss Margaret Christner. These energetic women work long hours to bring us a balanced diet.

Keeping our school clean and in working order are our busy maintenance men. These men, although rushed during the day, are never too busy to aid a club or organization who need their help. Their cheerfulness and friendliness contribute much to our school.

Our cafeteria here at JHS becomes the hub of activity between 11:11 and 12:59. Approximately 700 people eat in our cafeteria every day. And we feel our cafeteria is really tops.

We Need Copy!

There were no idle students in room 419 as the journalism class met each day of the week. Preparing the school newspaper, "The Centralizer", and the school yearbook, "The Spectator", for publication kept everyone hard at work. Every minute was valuable as the students rushed to meet the deadlines.

The activities and events of life at JHS were captured on the pages of the "The Centralizer" which was published every six weeks. Special features spotlighting outstanding students at JHS were written for many of the editions. As the finished articles were read and edited, copy was sent down to the Print Shop.

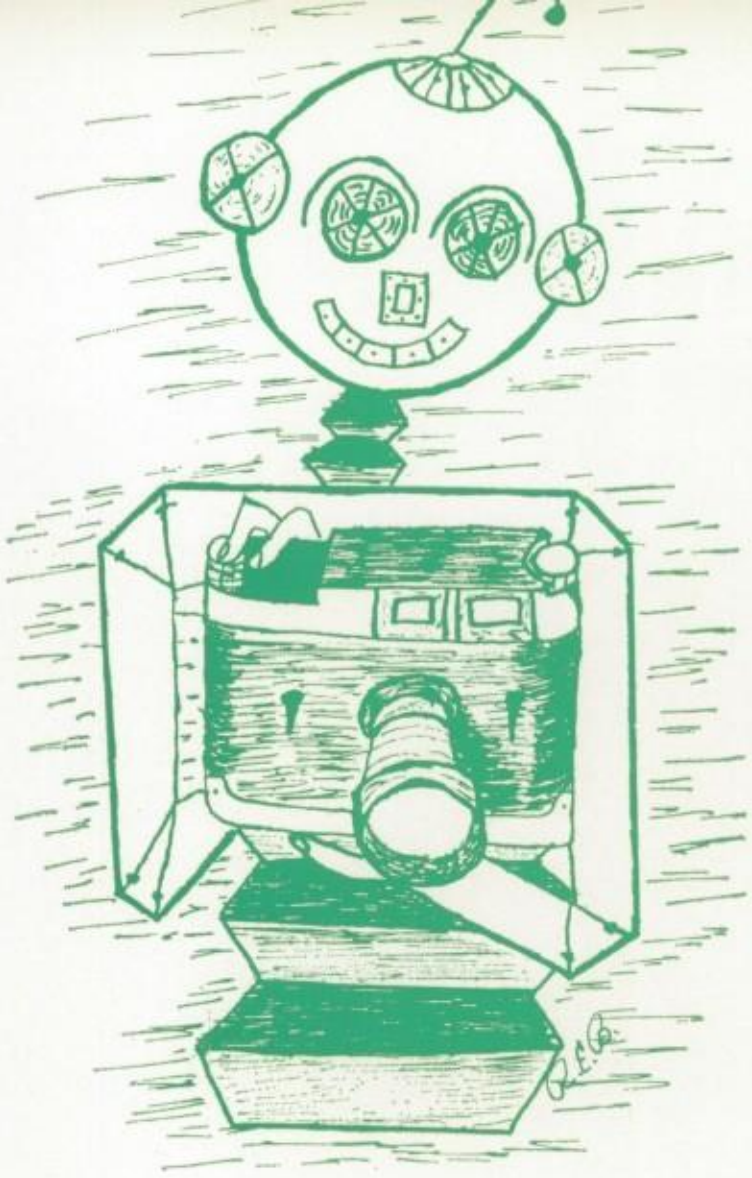
Mr. Roy Johns Interviewed



Watch the Birdie!

The work of getting all the pictures taken and keeping a record of them was the duty of the photography staff.

The boys acted as assistants to Mr. John Hesselbein, the photographer, doing various jobs such as carrying equipment, and supplying film or flashbulbs when they were needed. Keeping a record of the pictures taken and filing them was a big job, and the girls on the staff did it successfully. Finding pictures that were lost or not suitable was also the responsibility of the staff.

The adviser of the photography staff is Mrs. Margaret Bowes. The editor was Patricia Corle. An efficient assistant editor was Gary Smith. Other members of the photography staff were: Diana Kinback, Nancy Jo Martin, Marie Kerestesy, Carol Clough, Diane Wertz, Robert Cooper, Raymond Gardener and Robert Altemus.

Here are the boys and girls who aided Mrs. Bowes and the photographer.

Here are the boys and girls who can catch just about anything on their easel.

Art Staff of Today; Artists of Tomorrow

"Put more design toward center", "Show more depth", "Try this in charcoal", are only a few of the bits of conversation heard as one passes the doorway of 410. For in this room the artists of JHS are busy at work.

What were they doing? Why sketching pictures for the "Spectator", of course. Members of the Art Staff are responsible for all sketches and cartoons seen in our yearbook. They must know and apply the principles of art to both the high school publications, "The Spectator" and "The Centralizer". Artistic talent and creative imagination are qualities necessary to be a member of the Art Staff.

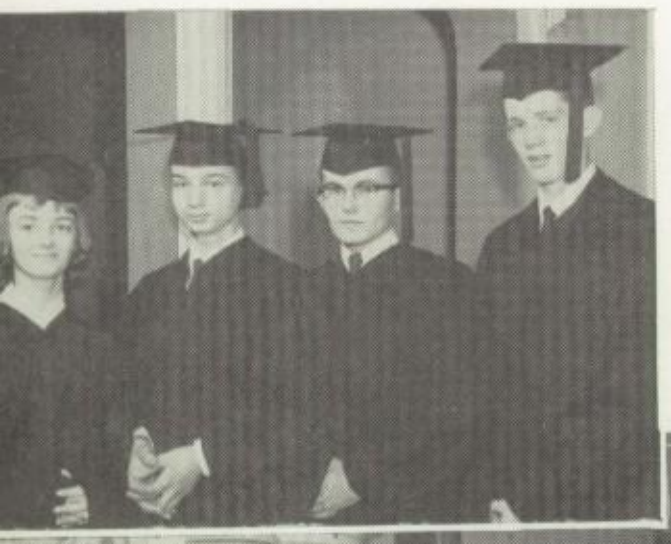
The staff, under the guidance of Mrs. Josephine Quigley, also send many pieces of work into the Scholastic Art Contest and various poster contests. Alethea Berkley and Kathy Sheehan are co-editors. Kathy is in charge of drawings while Alethea takes command of the lettering.

Honor Students Given Reward

Hard work and perseverance were the keys to membership in the National Honor Society of Johnstown High School. Although the four qualifications for membership — character, leadership, scholarship, and service — were met by each student who was accepted, there were goals to be maintained.

A memorable occasion of the year was the Honor Society assembly, at which time senior students who qualified became members of the Touchstone Chapter, sponsored by Mrs. George Kocerka. Speakers interpreted the four standards which the Honor Society represents.

After the ideals of the organization were explained by Loretta Edmonds, Mary Ann Molnar, Patty Friedman, and Dave Ripple, "The Honor Society Creed" was recited to the audience by Kathi George, the author of the club document.



The second important event of the year was the Annual Scholastic Honors Banquet. All JHS students who attained placement on the class honor roll were invited to attend. They were also the students who were awarded the chenille honor letter.

Girls in the Know

Scholastic ability, good character, personality and leadership are the qualities that make these twenty girls tops. The initials T. K. E. are derived from the Greek words, "To Kaaron Enomino," which means finding the best in everything. The members of this honorary society were chosen at the close of their junior year.

Since the purpose of this club is to become better acquainted, a Halloween Party was held with the Key Club as their first big project. The girls used their profits from various activities to help needy families over the holidays. At the end of the year, Stoughton Lakes was the sight for the annual picnic for this year's and next year's members.

The officers elected for this year's duties were President, Nancy Jo Martin; Vice-President, Rita Salem; Secretary, Shirley Small; and Treasurer, Kathy George.

The adviser for this year's society was Mrs. Rachel Georg.

OFFICERS—Kermit Inman, Rita Salem, Woody Barnette, Yvonne Balash, and Ronald Shingler. Colleen Lambert, secretary, was absent when picture was taken.

All In Favor, Say Aye!

Johnstown High School's student problems and activities have been handled by this year's Student Council.

Under the direction of their new adviser, Mr. Ronald Rankin, they have completed many worth-while projects. The organization of Club meeting dates is just one of their contributions to a co-ordinated school life.

The Christmas project involved the entire school. Students were asked to bring canned food and clothing for needy families. Each club was also asked to make some contribution in the way of entertainment for a program to be given for the Rehabilitation center. Also requests were sent out for refreshment contributions.

Another project is the annual Mr. and Miss Personality dance which is held in the spring. At this dance two students are chosen from the nominees to reign as Mr. and Miss Personality.

Our Student Council plays an important part in the life of JHS and is a great asset to the school.

Looking Toward Tomorrow

One of the outstanding clubs of Johnstown is the Future Teachers of America. This group is comprised of seventy-two students who intend to enter the education field as a career. Mrs. Shirley Colbert became the new F. T. A. adviser this year. She, along with the club officers, have done an excellent job with the organization. The officers are: Shirley Sroka, president; Sandra Genovese, vice president; Marie Kerestesy, secretary; Nancy Hite, treasurer; and Regina Fink, historian.

Several worthwhile projects have been undertaken and accomplished by the club this year. In September, representatives were sent to the Fall Rally of the Central Western District of the Pennsylvania Future Teachers of America at Indiana State College, where business officers were elected. As a Thanksgiving project, a basket of food was given to a needy family through the Welfare Agency. The highlight of the club's activities, however, was a lovely Christmas party given December 14 for the children of the Christian Home. Each child received presents and refreshments, all of which was furnished voluntarily by club members. The annual Student-Teacher banquet in the spring, sponsored by F. T. A., was a great success. These many club activities were financed mainly by holding fudge sales in the cafeteria.

JHS is very proud of this group of students who are destined to become America's educators of tomorrow.

Real class we find in Driving School with Mr. Francis Weaver and Mr. Philip Gettys as instructors

Student Drivers Step on the Gas

While the scientist of today is busy sending rockets to the moon, Mr. Philip Gettys and Mr. Frank Weaver are busy teaching Johnstown High School students the "dos and don'ts" of driving.

Driver training is a one-semester course which combines both the practical and academic aspects of driving. Two periods a week, students meet in the classroom and study the text, Man and the Motor Car. For the remaining three periods, the classes concentrate on driving.

Student drivers gain valuable experience by doing their preliminary driving on public streets. To insure the greater protection of the student and the pedestrian alike, a dual control automobile is used by both instructors.

The driver-training school produces students who are a credit to their community as teen-age drivers. A driver's license is a privilege and Johnstown High School's student drivers have learned to appreciate it as such.

Leaders of the Future

One of the most active clubs in the school is the Key Club, composed of many of the outstanding young men at Johnstown High.

To obtain membership in this organization, a student must show the qualities of leadership and initiative, besides having honor roll grades.

With school and community service as their primary objective, the club this year undertook the projects of ushering at football games, selling refreshments at basketball and wrestling contests, and sending baskets of food to the needy during Christmas. A big promotion was the "Smash a Car Day," held the day preceding the JHS-Windber football game. The annual Parent's Banquet, the "Slave Sale", and the blood donor campaign kept these future leaders busy all year long.

Under the guidance of Mr. Ralph Gillman and the direct sponsorship of the Kiwanis Club, the Key Club has fulfilled the duties and responsibilities of the motto for which they stand — "We Build."

Checkmate!

This expression could easily have been heard during the year by any student passing room 318, where the Chess Club met Monday after school. The club sponsored by Mr. Guy Henry, a student teacher, was open to any student who found chess an intriguing pastime. Many of the members in the JHS Chess Club have sported a growing interest in the tournaments, both in and out of school.

The Chess Club had its origin last year when Mr. Andrew Hanak, also a student teacher, made his enthusiastic interest of the game known to many students. In a tournament, under the supervision of Mr. Hanak, Gary Smith, who was then a junior, took the championship. He played a total of eleven games, winning ten of them.

A complicated and detailed constitution was drawn up last year by members who were eager to make the Chess Club an active, smooth-working organization. Everything from a quorum to impeachment proceedings was covered by the document.

Officers for the '60 - '61 school year were as follows: President, Gary Smith; Vice-President, Pat McKee; Secretary, Bonnie Weigle; and Treasurer, Nancy Jo Martin.

High Their Voices Rise

Feminine voices of the Girls' Chorus echo in the halls of JHS as they sing, in rhythm, melody, and harmony.

To keep their voices in shape, the girls sang several Christmas anthems for practice. The accompanists this year were Jane Eppley and Sandy Strayer. The practice paid off when they sang acappella in three-part harmony for the Baccalaureate Service on June 4.

Under the direction of Mr. Charles Aikey, they sang three sixteenth century melodies entitled, "Holy Spirit, Truth Divine," "Give Thanks to Him," and "The King of Love My Shepherd Is." Added to the selections as a favorite among the girls was "Bless This House."

Any girl is eligible to try out for the Girls' Chorus. This year there were forty-eight members who were divided up into three classes that met twice a week. But they all met in one group for a final rehearsal.

The Seniors will leave JHS with a new knowledge of music through singing in the Girls' Chorus.

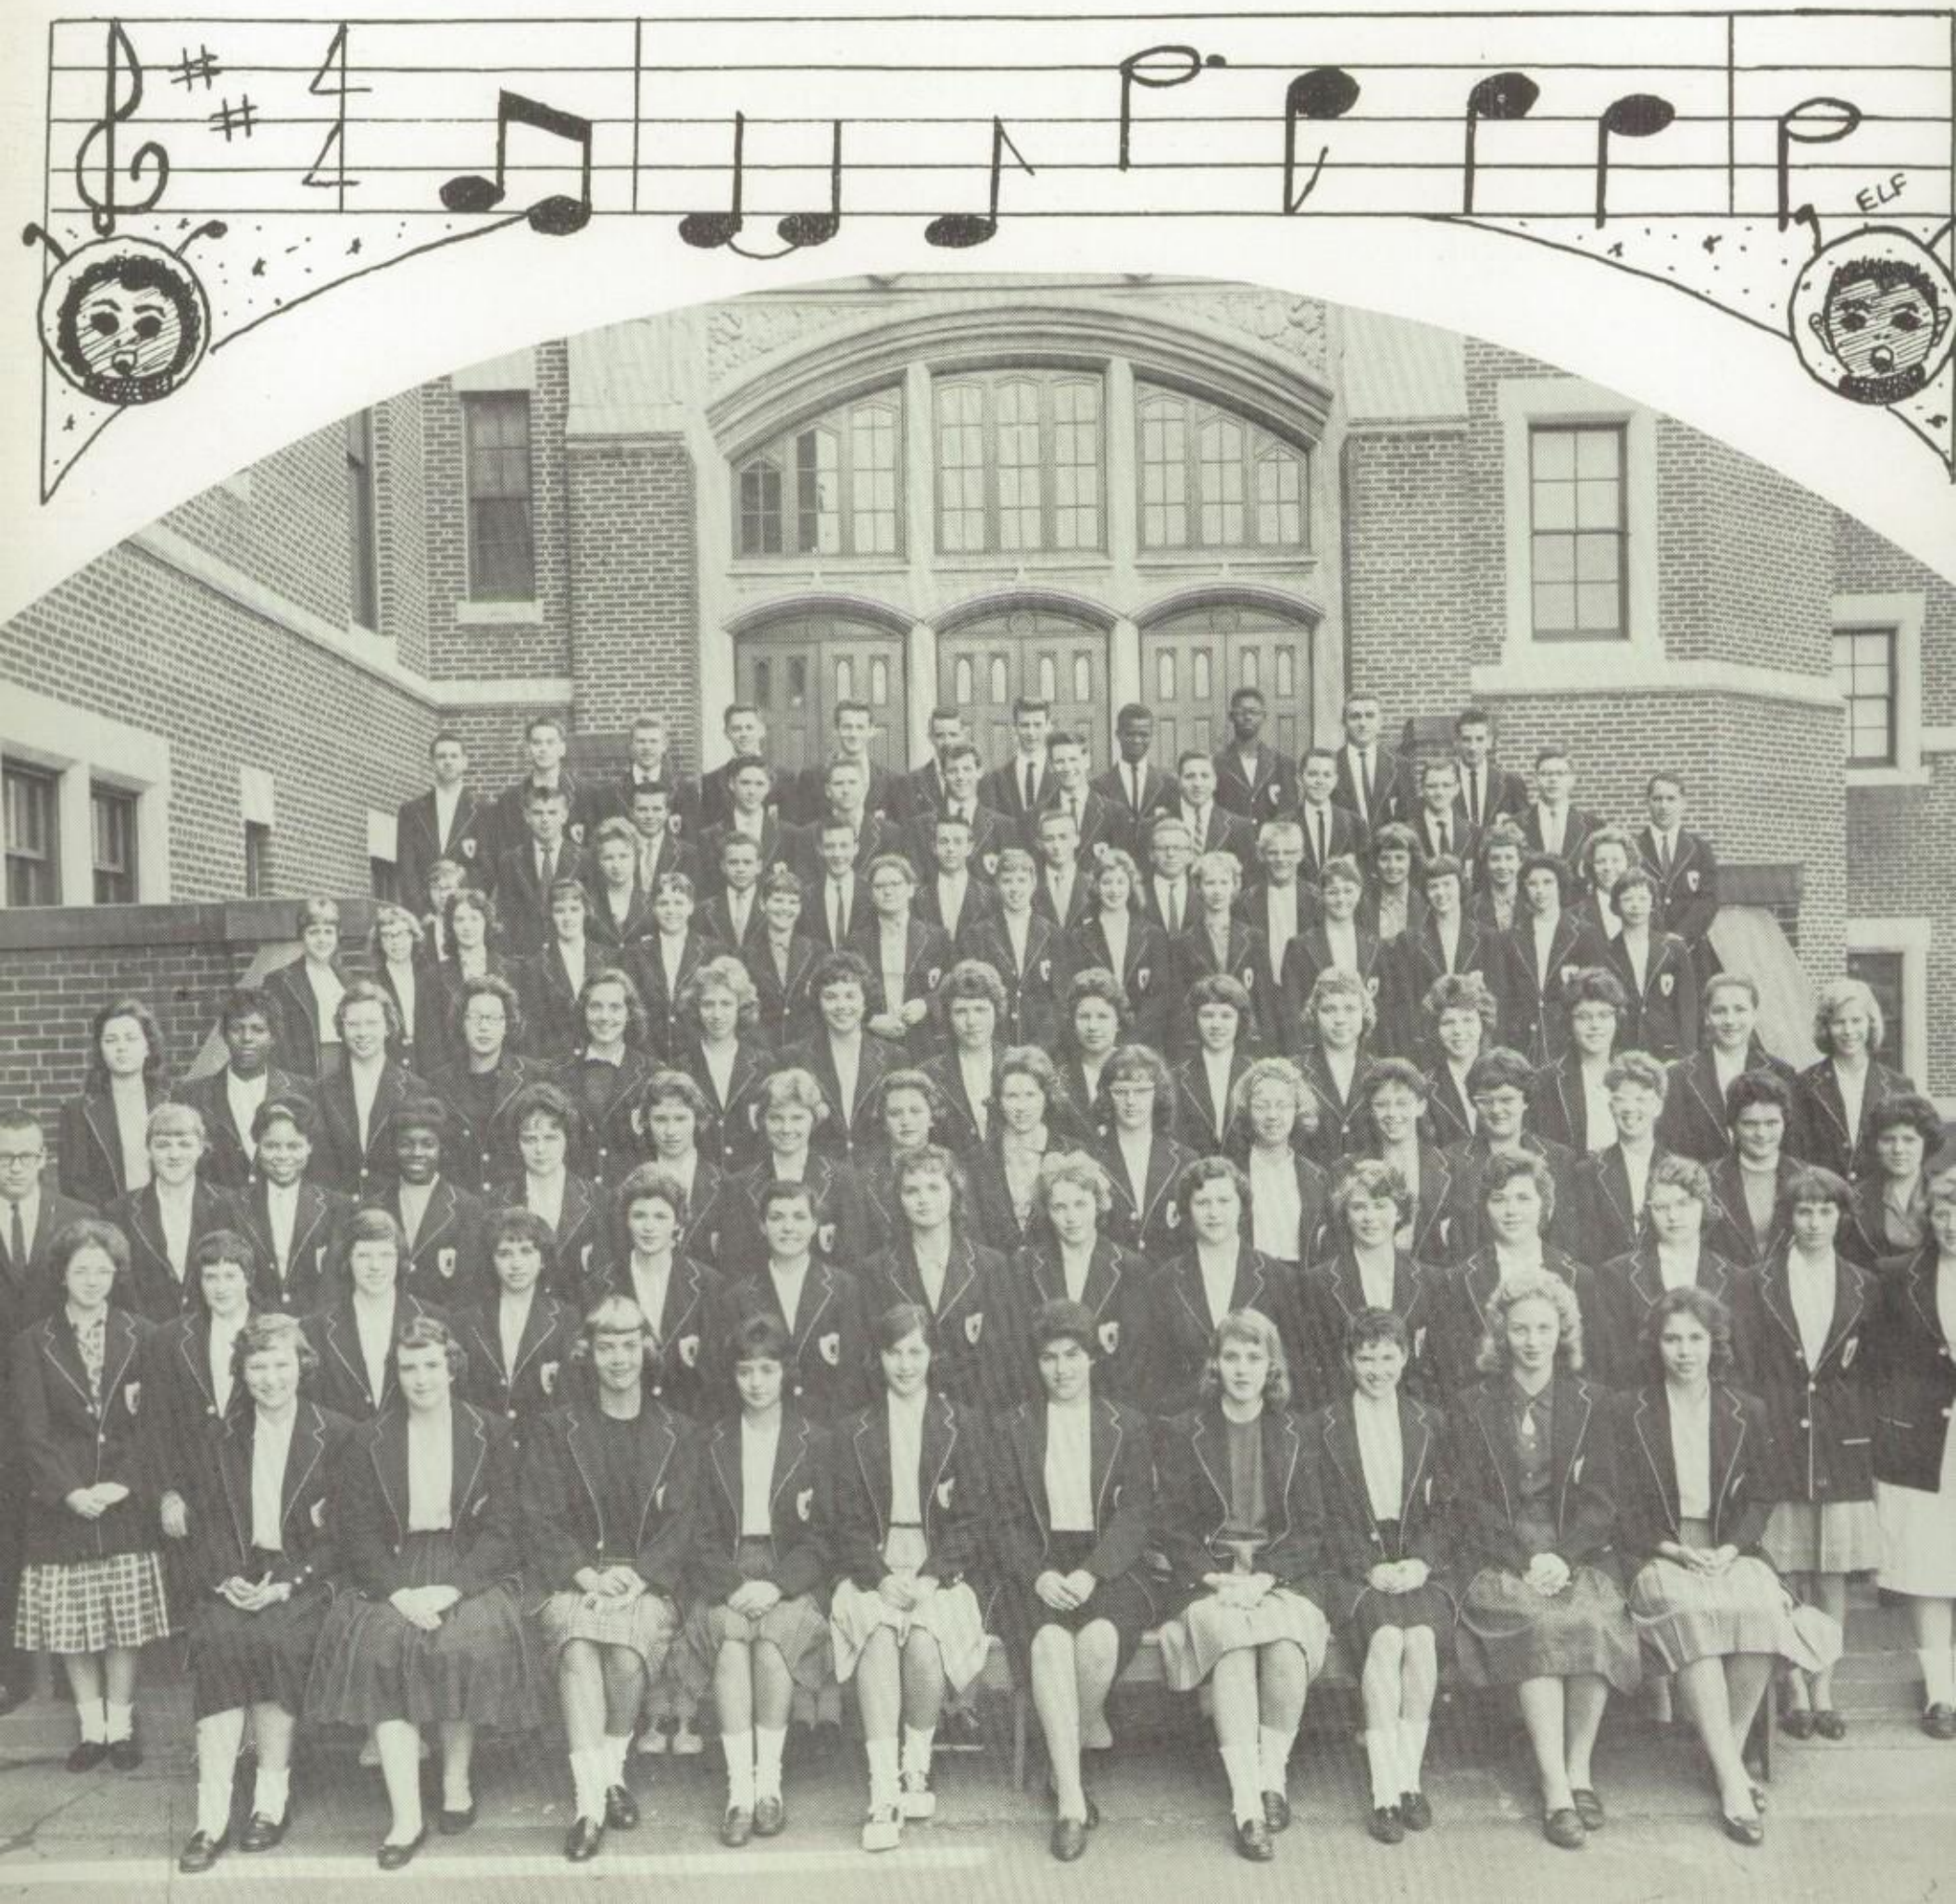
There's a song in the air

Sing Along With Us

The Johnstown High School Mixed Chorus had an addition to their personnel this year in the way of a new director, Mr. Carl Miller. Mr. Miller, a 1960 graduate of Indiana State College, has directed our chorus through one of its most successful years.

The group made its debut in the Thanksgiving assembly. Their first really significant performance, however, was an outstanding Christmas assembly, highlighted by the appearance of a small choral ensemble newly organized this year. This fine performance of the entire chorus, made possible only by long hard months of sectional and group rehearsal, was an inspiration to all who heard it.

Also this year, instead of the traditional spring musical, there was a spring concert presented which included beautiful selections of both secular and religious nature. Praises are due this fine musical organization, the "voice" of Johnstown High School.



The J.H.S. Orchestra

We Know Our Music

The Johnstown High School Orchestra was under the direction of Mr. Charles Aikey. Assisting Mr. Aikey was the student director, Robert Hornick.

Since the Orchestra was not as large as in previous years, they were unable to put on a Christmas Assembly. Violins, clarinets, a trombone, a trumpet, a viola, a saxaphone, and a flute made up the school orchestra this year.

During Christmas vacation the orchestra held a Christmas Party along with the band and Mixed Chorus.

JHS Band Rockets to Fame

On August 22, 1960, the Johnstown High School Trojan Band launched another successful year with their pre-season training. With the opening of school, the band continued practicing Monday and Tuesday evenings at school and the rest of the week after school at the Point Stadium. This all led to an outstanding marching season with six away-trips and many spectacular shows, including one in which the band used lights on their high-stepping toes.

Outstanding events of the season included the annual spring concert, the various assembly programs, playing for the basketball games, and the capture of first place in the Halloween parade.

This year the band started a new merit system. Under this system each member was given a chance to earn merits for attending rehearsals and for extra work which would be for the betterment of the band. Demerits were given for unexcused absences, improper equipment and unsatisfactory attitude. In order to receive a band letter, members were required to earn 150 merits.

Beakers, Bubbles, Blasts

Scientists of the future meet in room 427, as members of an organization called the Science Club. This club is under the direction of Mr. Ralph Weigle.

The Science Club has open membership for all students interested in science as a profession or merely as a hobby.

The club, this year, has the distinction of working in a new laboratory. Throughout the year the Science Club invites people from scientific fields to speak at their meetings. Through these speakers they find helpful ideas and suggestions for achieving their careers in science.

Students of the Science Club enter exhibits and projects in the science fairs of Johnstown, Indiana, and Penn State. Many of these exhibits win award ribbons.

The Science Club of J.H.S. will play an even greater part in the students' minds during the Age of Space and Missiles.

Sliding the Slide Rule

Every Friday the JHS Engineers' Club, under the direction of Mr. Edward Podrasky, meets to discuss different engineering fields and observe projects presented by members of the club. The club meetings are designed to further the study of engineering among those students interested in engineering and able to maintain a "C" average in all subjects.

The club is affiliated with the Junior Engineers Technical Society (JETS), an organization sponsored by the National Science Foundation. The JETS send booklets and other useful information concerning science and engineering to the club, with hopes that they may be of some use to the interested students.

Engineering movies, field trips to different industries, and a thorough course on "Mastering the Slide Rule," sponsored by the JETS, help round out the year which instills a fine background into the minds of the College Engineering Preparatory Students of tomorrow.

Drama All Around

The National Thespian Society is an honor organization designed to create an active interest in all phases of dramatic arts. This year has been no exception for the Thespians.

Under the direction of their adviser, Miss Joan Puhala, the Thespians have seen and participated in drama all around. Trips to the Mountain Playhouse in Jennerstown, the Nixon Theater in Pittsburgh, the State Rehabilitation Center in Johnstown, and other high school plays, have given the Thespians excellent opportunities to see other performers at work.

The Thespians have not neglected their motto, "Act well your part, there all the honor lies." Presenting a Thanksgiving program for the Golden Agers, is only one example of community service offered by the Thespians. A Christmas program on WARD-TV, the class play, the annual spring banquet, a conference at Penn State University, bake sales, and fudge sales, are several of the projects undertaken by this active group.

Although the graduation members will no longer be able to participate in the activities next year, they will meet Commencement Day with fond memories of the Thespians.

Helping Others—Duty of Senior Y-Teens

With a total of 313 members, the Y-Teens is Johnstown High School's largest organization. The senior club, comprised of 163 girls is headed by President Carol Prebehalla. Assisting Carol is Mrs. Josephine Quigley, faculty adviser.

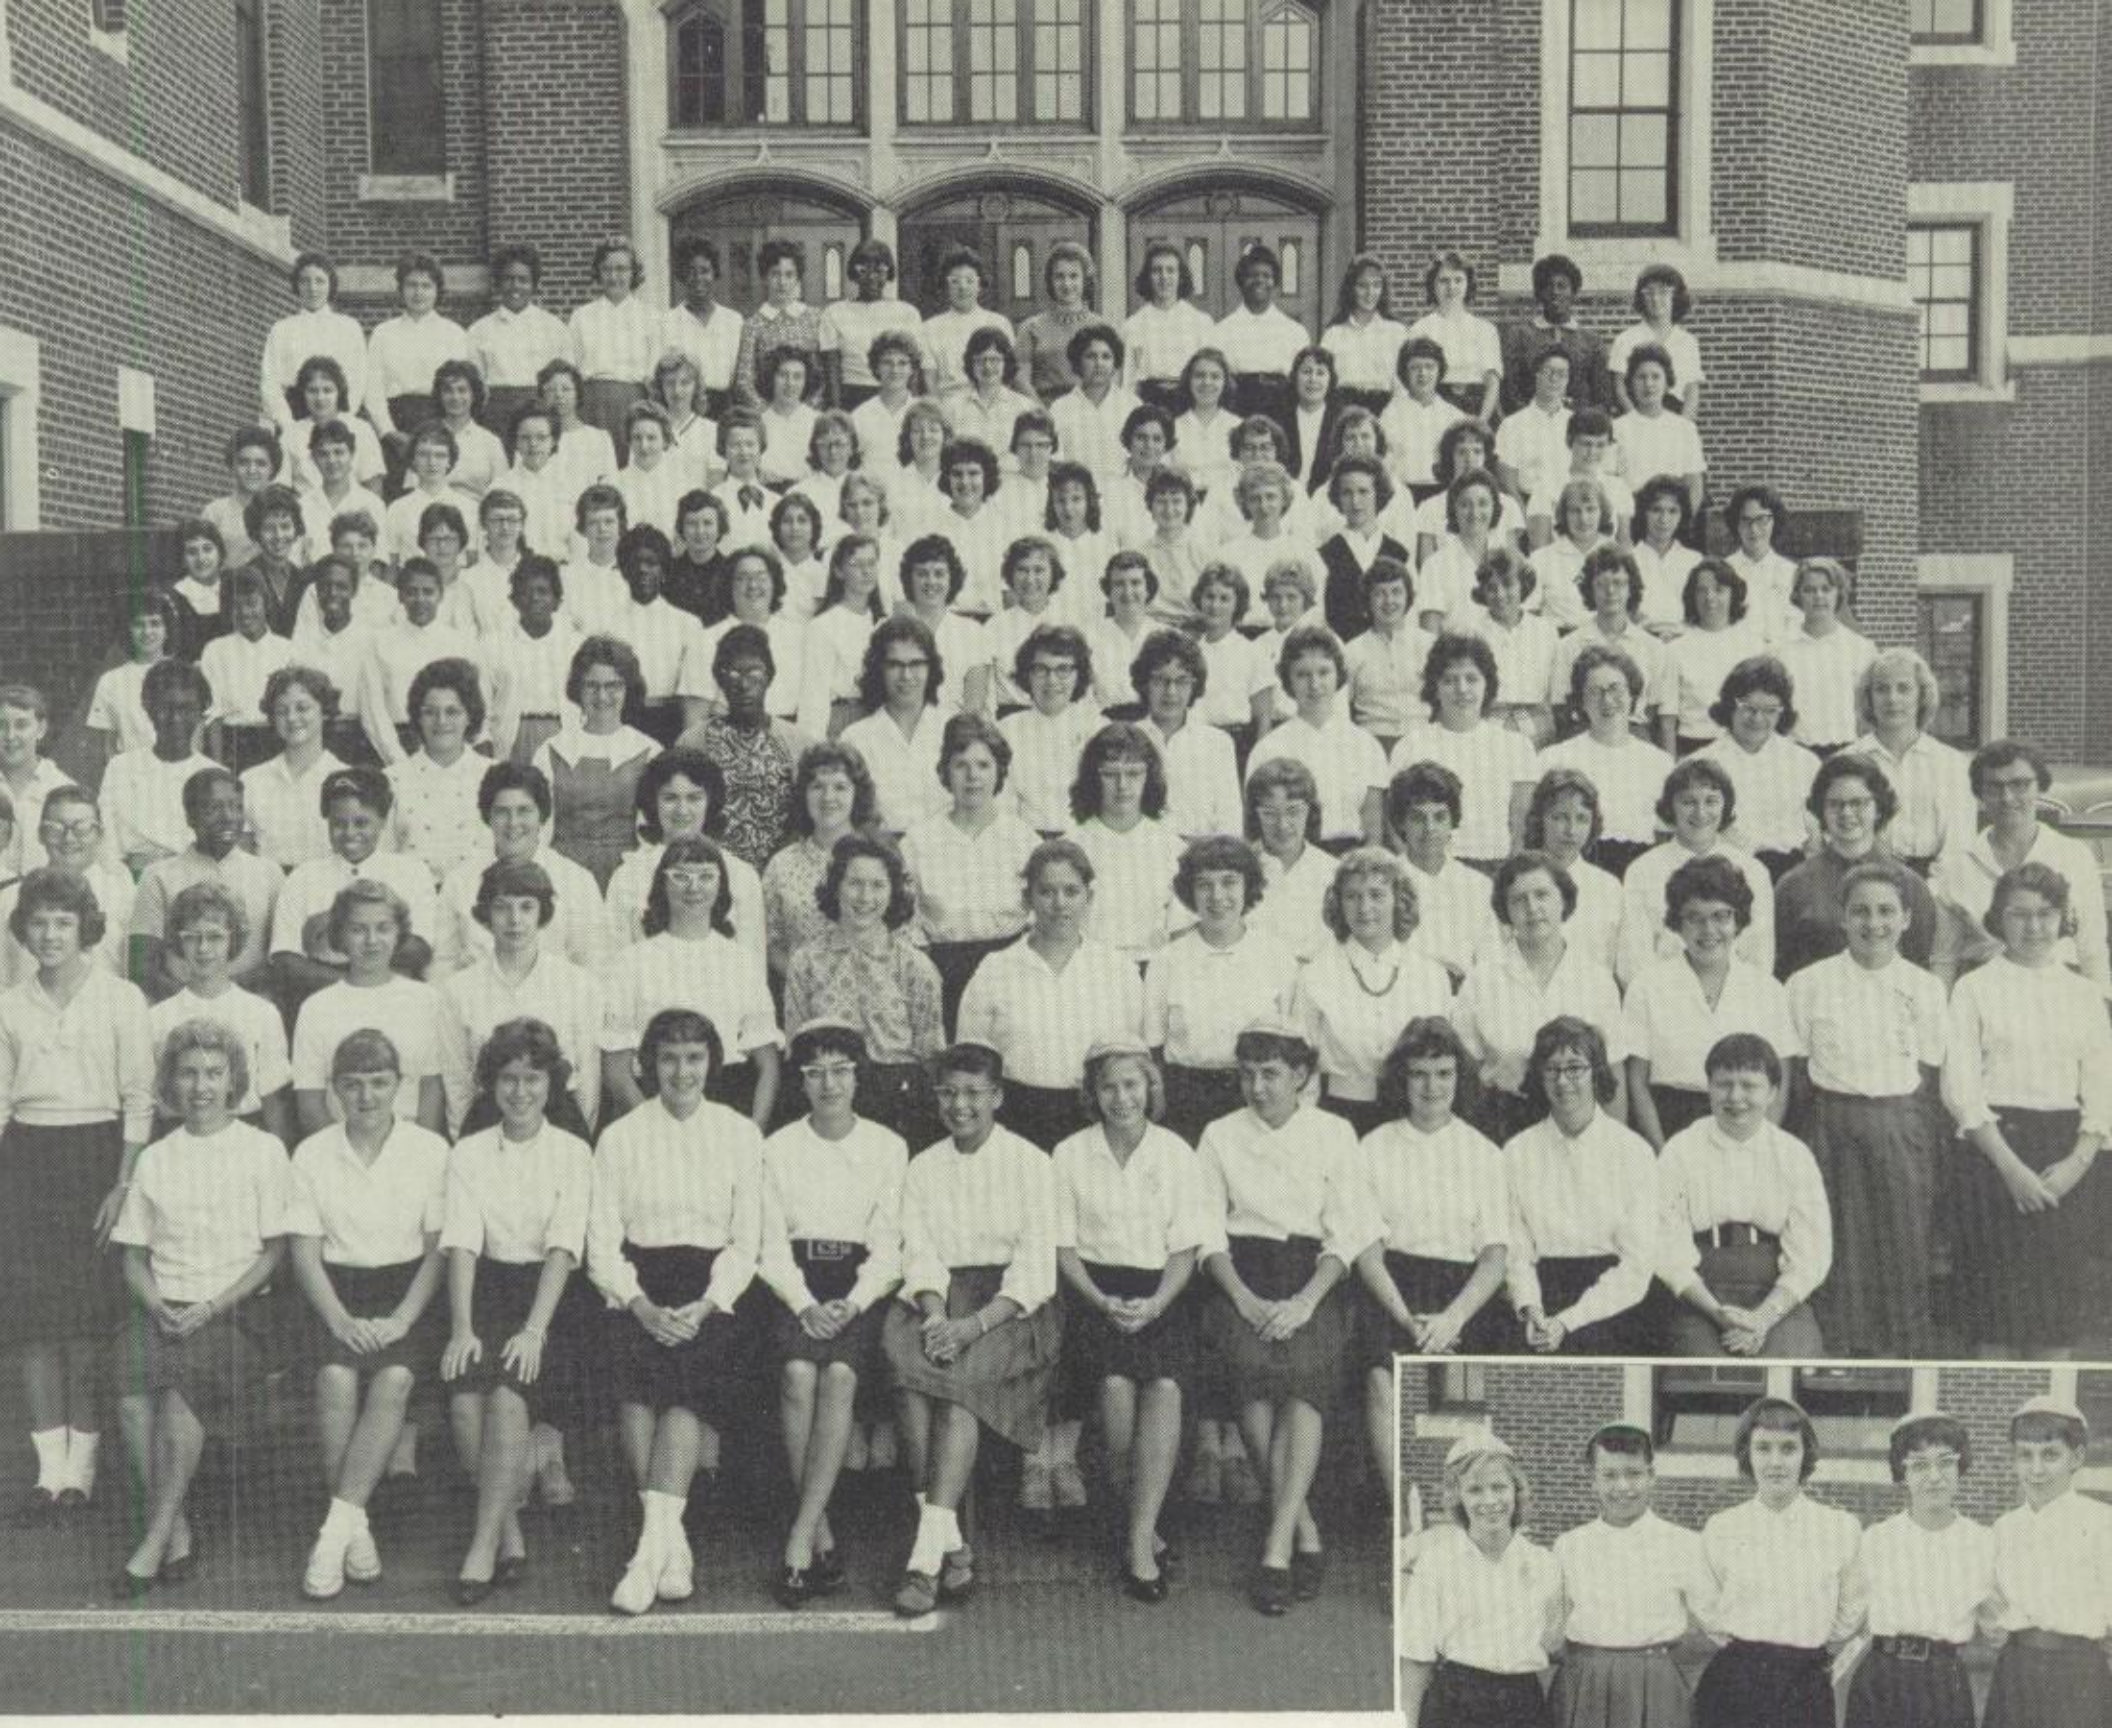
Closely affiliated with the Y. W. C. A., the Y-Teens is a service organization. As an example of their willingness to help others, the Y-Teens sent five baskets of food to five needy families for Thanksgiving.

As in previous years, the club was financed by fudge sales held periodically in the cafeteria. The annual dance brought additional funds to the treasury.

Believing that "all work and no play make Jackie a dull girl," the Y-Teens set out to do something about this. Pizza parties, panel discussions, swimming parties, dances, and a mother-daughter banquet filled the social calendar of a Y-Teen member.

Every Wednesday, more and more blue-and-white beanies containing the Y-Teen symbol were displayed around the halls, showing evidence that the Y-Teens are a most significant group at JHS.

OFFICERS—Rebecca Hart, Carol Prebehalla, Diane Panagotacos, and Nancy Eichelberger.



OFFICERS—Margie Pavlik, Vivia Collins, Mary Jo Duell, Virginia Manganello, and Agnes Malysko.

Junior Y-Teens are Willing and Ready

Of the 313 Y-Teens, 150 of these girls are juniors who were filled to the brim with energy and good will.

To help advise such a large number of girls, Miss Lelia Calderwood graciously offered herself to the Y-Teens as their sponsor. But realizing that one person couldn't possibly undertake the advising of 150 girls, Miss Mary Jane Torak accepted the position of assistant.

The Junior Y-Teens voted in five girls as their club officers. These girls have shown remarkable qualities as leaders, and have given full co-operation to the Y-Teen organization.

The junior officers are: Vivia Collins, president; Marjorie Pavlik, vice president; Virginia Manganello, secretary; Agnes Malysko, treasurer; and Mary Jo Duell, inter-club council representative.

Combined with the Senior Y-Teens, the Juniors helped to fix five baskets of food for five needy families for Thanksgiving.

Not only did these Y-Teens perform charitable deeds but they also made time for fun and social activities. Among these were pizza parties and fudge sales.

OFFICERS—Linda McCann, Joyce Johnson, Mary Cucciardo, Anita Pastorek, and Mary Ann Sebes.

White is Their Favorite Color

The members of the Para-Medical Careers Club do not have the same field of medicine as their goal, but they do have one thing in common — they will all wear white.

This club was formerly called the "Future Nurses of America." The name was changed to make it possible for more students interested in the medical profession to join.

P.M.C.C. members can be found working in local hospitals every day of the week from 4:00-6:00 p.m. You may have also seen many belonging to the club in doctors offices, hospital labs, and perhaps even the X-ray room.

The igniting mission of the Medical Club was working for the Tuberculosis Society. Later in the year they had a Christmas party for the United Cerebral Palsy children.

Through all their humanitarian projects the members work up quite an appetite for the annual banquet, held at the end of the year.

Para-Medical Careers Club is under the guidance of Mrs. Beatrice Shaffer and Miss Norma Oliverio.

Mathematic-Minded Students Have Active Club

The Mathematics club, known as the Mu Alpha Theta, has had a busy schedule all year. With the help of Miss Thelma P. Fetterman, who sponsors the club, Mu Alpha Theta has had one of its most successful years since the organization began.

Installation of officers and initiation of new members took place in the school audion during October. Another event of this month was the regional mathematics meeting to which JHS played host. The affair was a huge success.

Meetings of the Mu Alpha Theta were held twice monthly. Associate members from the three junior high schools were invited to attend evening meetings. The club intended, in this manner, to focus their interest on membership in the club for future years. Members are chosen after an examination of their scholastic record attained in the past two years.

Officers for the 1960-61 term were David Ripple, president; Bob McCready, vice-president; Patricia Corle, secretary; and Don Freeburn, treasurer.

Roaring for Action

"Snappy! happy! are we hep? Johnstown High School's full of pep!" This is the familiar cry of the 100 girls of the Girls' Pep Club who, hand in hand with the cheerleaders, help to promote pep at JHS.

The purpose of the club is to encourage more school spirit among the student body. The girls carried out this purpose by painting the walls of JHS with black and blue signs, by selling school pins and pennants for use at the games, and by selling school flowers.

Highlights of this year's Pep Club were a banquet held for the presentation of club pins by the junior members to the senior members, a Christmas project in which they helped the needy mental patients at Torrance, the annual Bermuda Barbecue and the annual formal. A party was held in the school cafeteria for initiation of the junior members.

With these girls, JHS will never die. "Victory!" is their cry.

PRINT SHOP

Boys in the JHS Print Shop who want to advance themselves in this field may join the Graphic Arts Club. These boys are striving to find new and better ways of using their knowledge in the field of printing.

The club, as its major project, sponsored the local observance of International Printing Education Week which was marked during the week of Benjamin Franklin's birthday, the week of January 15-21. On October 13, 1960, the members of the Graphic Arts Club elected Ron Huss president. Huss, a senior who is interested in printing, did a fine job both as a printer and as club president.

This year's officers other than Huss were: Dave Erb, vice president; Peter Heinlein, secretary; John Kaiser, assistant Secretary; Joseph Kissel, treasurer; Don Sellers, assistant treasurer; Jim Thiel, sergeant-at-arms. Mr. Joseph Coyle and Mr. Kenneth Artice, printing instructors, are club advisers.

Projectionists Rate at JHS

The Projectionists's Club is an organization whose prime purpose is to serve the school. Under the direction of Mr. Wilmer Hoerr, the members learn the mechanics of operating the movie projector and run these machines for many of the films shown to the classes at JHS.

A member of this group can nearly always be found operating the projector at any of the films shown in the audion or in the classrooms.

Because this is not a social club, the Projectionists never sponsor events outside of school, and rarely hold meetings, except in cases of necessity. This organization is open to any student wishing to learn to operate a projector. There are both male and female members.

The student body of JHS owes a great deal to the members of the Projectionists' Club, because they perform a fine service for our school.

The Library Club at JHS lends its services to the faculty and student body. Forty girls in this club perform various duties such as filing, cataloging and repairing books.

Social activities high-lighted this year's program. For Thanksgiving this year, the club gave a needy family a basket of food. Then a Christmas party for the members of the club was a great success.

All this and more was accomplished by the club and its sponsors, Mrs. Rachel Georg and Mrs. Carmela Flavo. The officers of the club were President, Sandy Sabo; Vice-President, Elizabeth Churilla; and Secretary, Lynnise Shaw.

New language laboratory on 5th floor of J.H.S.

Miss Helen Lockard tries the new language laboratory

In June With the Times

Keeping in step with Johnstown High's ever-advancing curriculum is our new language laboratory. The main purpose is to teach the student to enjoy learning a language. This trend in progressive education started after the end of World War II.

The electronic room or language laboratory consists of twenty-nine individual booths, a library room for tape recordings, films and a control room for the teacher in charge. Each booth contains a speaker and tape-recording device. This enables the student to hear his voice and quickly sense his shortcomings. He can then work to improve in these individual fields. With the use of the control room, the student can ask the advice and aid of his instructor.

The emphasis in this new method of instruction is being placed on: (1) translation (2) fluency (3) comprehension and (4) writing. Students learn about content words and function words.

The electronic age is reflecting itself in Johnstown High.

"Just Away"

I cannot say, and I will not say
That he is dead — he is just away.

With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand
He has wandered away into an unknown land.

And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be since he lingers there.

And you — O you, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return —

Think of him faring on as dear
In the love of There as the love of Here;

And loyal still, as he gave the blows
Of his warrior-strength to his country's foes.

Mild and gentle, as he was brave —
When the sweetest love of his life he gave

To simple things: — Where violets grew
Blue as the eyes they were likened to,

The touches of his hand have strayed
As reverently as his lips have prayed,

When the little brown thrush that harshly chirped
Was dear to him as the mocking bird;

And he pitied as much as a man in pain
A writhing honey-bee wet with rain. —

Think of him still as the same, I say:
He is not dead — he is just away!

SCHOOL FOOTBALL TEAM

Focus On Football

The old saying, "All good things must come to an end," was never more true than this year for our Trojan eleven. Undefeated the past two campaigns, the Men of Troy once again got off on a winning note as they defeated four straight opponents to run their undefeated, untied string to 25. Then came mighty Redstone and a 14-14 deadlock, which put an end to any visions of gaining W. P. I. A. L. laurels.

Following this was a conquest of McKeesport and the shattering of the state's longest undefeated streak of 27 straight games at the hands of Monessen.

Words such as "speed," "power," "reserve strength," "injuries," were used to describe our 1960 aggregation, who played some of the best teams in Pennsylvania.

By defeating Altoona and Windber for the past three years, JHS Coach Dave Hart and his staff were rewarded by gaining permanent possession of the Silver Scoop, emblem of football supremacy among the three schools.

TROJANS ROUT ERIE EAST

Scoring three of the first four times they had the ball, JHS opened the 1960 season with a 25-7 victory over Erie East at the Point Stadium.

JOHN KING and JOHN KUCENSKI countered for the home forces in the first stanza. After Erie scored on a fumble, JHS bounced back with another score by KING to make the score 19-7 as LEONARD added the extra point. BARNETTE scored Johnstown's final touchdown and ended the scoring at 25-7.

TROJANS ROMP FIFTH AVENUE

The Trojans won their 23rd straight game over Fifth Avenue, September 17, at the Point Stadium. Although the field was soaking wet from the storms all afternoon, the Men of Troy played fine football.

In the first quarter the Trojans had themselves a 13-0 lead and then had a field day racing through gook for the sixth second period touchdown and a 57-0 halftime lead.

JAN KURUZOVICH took the lead in touchdowns for the Trojans with two. His first TD came about when BOB ARCURIO clicked a pass to send him over the goal line. On the first play after the kick-off, KURUZOVICH intercepted an enemy pass and romped 60 yards for the touchdown.

The longest run was made by KONDASH, who stepped off 75 yards to paydirt.

GENE BUCHAN, RON SHORTO, JOHN KING, TOJO KING, WOODY BARNETTE, JOHN KUCENSKI and JOHN LIVINGSTON all had one touchdown. LOU LEONARD added 5 out of 9 extra points. The Trojans went off the field soaking wet, with a 59-0 win over Fifth Avenue.

TROJANS WIN FIRST AA

Johnstown's JOHN KING and New Ken's BOB BALLARD put on spectacular shows with the Trojan quarterback coming out on top as JHS beat New Ken 32-20.

New Ken scored first but KING evened the score a few minutes later. New Ken had a commanding 20-7 lead as the first period ended but KING scored again in the second period and at half time the score was 20-13.

Very early in the third period JAN KURUZOVICH stepped off a kickoff return 82 yards to paydirt. LOU LEONARD then added the extra point to tie the score 20-20. JOHN KING scored two more touchdowns as the Trojans won their 24th straight.

TROJANS SMASH WINDBER 26-0

Trojans beat Windber area 26-0 for their 25th win and also the longest streak in the state. Over 10,000 fans attended the 42nd meeting between the two schools.

The Trojans capitalized on a pass interception by CHARLES LaPORTA in the first period, to send JOHN KUCENSKI on the very first play, 56 yards for one of his two touchdowns of the evening. Windber's only threat in the game was stopped one foot short of a TD.

In the third frame the Trojans had the ball on Windber's twelve yard line. KUCENSKI started around left end and seeing that he was trapped, reversed his field and went 12 yards for his second TD. LOU LEONARD added the extra point. KING scored next on a 66-yard punt return. LEONARD then added his second extra point of the evening.

The final points were added when ARCURIO completed a pass to WOODY BARNETTE in the last seconds of the game as the score ended 26-0.

JHS HELD TO TIE

Pennsylvania's longest win streak was shattered as Redstone Township held Johnstown to a 14-14 tie.

Redstone scored first on a 74-yard march, ended with a 29-yard touchdown pass. JHS drew even when JAN KURUZOVICH caught a JOHN KING pass and LOU LEONARD added the extra point.

JOHN KUCENSKI scored Johnstown's second touchdown and LEONARD added the extra point as the Trojans surged ahead 14-7.

Redstone then tied up matters on an 83-yard march to paydirt and added the all-important extra point as both teams bowed out of the W. P. I. A. L. — AA race.

TROJANS SLAP 26-6 LOSS ON TIGERS

Johnstown High's Trojans wrapped up their football business at the Point Stadium for 1960, October 15, with a 26-6 thrashing of Duke Weigle's Tigers.

The Trojans scored in the first period on a 52 yard run and in the second on an 80 yard drive. The Men of Troy scored twice more in the third frame on marches of 44 and 40 yards respectively.

HARRY FORD started around his right end and was racked up by CHARLES LaPORTA. He fumbled and WOODY BARNETTE recovered on JHS's 48.

On the very neat play JOHN KUCENSKI went around right end for 52 yards for a TD. WOODY BARNETTE, JOHN KING, and GENE BUCHAN each had a TD to their credit. LOU LEONARD added 2 out of 4 extra points.

HARRY FORD made the lone TD for the losers with a 14-yard end sweep.

TROJANS LOSE FIRST

Johnstown High School's 27-game undefeated streak fell October 21, as the Monessen Greyhounds passed their way to a 26-14 victory.

Monessen countered first, when RICH YATCHYSYN picked off a JOHN KING lateral and raced 20 yards for the TD.

KING then returned the kickoff 90 yards to paydirt and LEONARD added the extra point as Johnstown led 7-6. KING also set up the Trojan's next touchdown when he intercepted a pass and was stopped just two yards short of a TD. GENE BUCHAN then carried it over for the score. LEONARD again converted.

Monessen scored twice in the second period to go ahead and stay ahead as Johnstown failed in their last scoring attempt. Monessen then added one more TD to end the scoring at 26-14.

JHS TRIPS LIONS

Johnstown High School Trojans bounced back Friday night, October 28, to defeat Altoona 27-14 at Mansion Park.

By virtue of the victory, the Trojans gained permanent possession of the Silver Scoop.

WOODY BARNETTE scored the first Trojan TD. LOU LEONARD added the extra point.

Johnstown was back in business with a pass interception by JOHN KING on Altoona's 37-yard line, less than three plays after the kickoff. On the third play, JOHN KUCENSKI swung around left end and went for one of his two TD's. LEONARD added the second extra point.

In the third frame, JOE SHUSTER took a pitch out from ANKER on the Trojans 41 yard line and went around his left end for one of his two TD's. ANKER only made one of the two extra point attempts.

In the final seconds of the game, TOJO KING intercepted a pass on Altoona's 34 and sprinted all the way for the TD. LEONARD added the final touch.

WEIRTON SURPRISES JHS

The Trojans of JHS were subjected to a big surprise Friday, November 4, at Weirton. The once beaten Riders scored once in the first stanza and twice in the next three stanzas. Weirton accumulated an early 20-0 lead on three long marches up the field. Johnstown came back with a 48 yard drive to make the score 20-7 at halftime.

The Riders kept their 13 point lead as each team scored quickly, early in the third quarter, but then it was all Weirton. The Riders scored once more in the third period and twice more in the fourth period to beat Johnstown 48-13.

Glove Men

The "glove men" of Coach Francis Mihalic and assistant coach Paul Slobozien once again blasted their way into the thick of things to rank as a top gun in the Tri-County League. The boys played fine ball only to be defeated in the championship game.

As usual we had a mound staff second to none. Harry Stenger and Doug Chambers handled the catching chores with Chambers sometimes switching to third base. We also had a tight-knit infield. Chambers at third, Bill Diamond at shortstop, Dick Plaza or Dan Keene at second, and Paul Litwalk at first, formed the flawless infield.

A quick-moving outfield added the finishing touches to the team. Left field was held down by fleet-footed Bill Pejak. John Kucenski ruled center field when he wasn't pitching himself to a victory on the mound. Bill Lohr played right field to round out a fine balanced team.

Our Baseball Team

Joe Sefik, John Mack, Joe Greeley, Doug Chambers, Gary Berglof, Dave Ambrose, and Henry Streilein.

On Your Mark!

This season was just a mediocre one for Coach Pete Fee's Cross-Country runners. Although they placed high in several of their triangular and quadrangular meets, they never succeeded in breaking into the win column.

The Men of Troy opened the season at Connellsville and tasted defeat for the first time. Successive meets with State College, Westmont, and Altoona proved the Trojans no match for these mighty foes. Rematches with State College and Altoona followed as the Trojans struggled to defeat the ever-tough foe to no avail. Next came the District VI meet which again found the Trojans subdued by the tough competition of the surrounding district schools.

Nevertheless, for the sixth straight year, the Trojan Harriers qualified for the state meet. In this much-publicized event, Joe Greely, the team's only returning letterman, placed 16th among runners from all over the state.

No wonder the grapplers grunt.

Dave Ambrose and Johnny Knee practice reversals.

Ready? Wrestle!

During recent years, wrestling has grown into one of the most popular sports at JHS. It started as a very obscure sport with only a handful of followers and now the JHS gym is frequently filled to capacity when the Trojan grapplers are wrestling at home. The sports' popularity is due largely to the successful records compiled by Coach Milan Svitchan and Donald Hartnett, his assistant. In the past three years, the JHS grapplers have put together a record of 33 wins against only one loss.

Wrestling is a sport where individuality plays a major role. A wrestler is on his own when he is wrestling. No one else can shoulder his responsibility. Wrestling also gives the little fellow a chance to take part in athletics.

Coach Svitchan was faced this year with the loss of seven lettermen. However, Adam Weigle, a two-year letterman, Dave Ambrose, Gary Berglof, Larry Berkey, and John Knee returned to lead a new bank of wrestlers. Those capturing other first string berths were: Curtis Davis, Tom Gallo, Gerry Gehosky, Bruce Haselrig, Dave Clark, Kershaw Shannon, John Thomas, and Jeff Richardson.

Go Man Go

The 1961 Trojan "cinder churners" have completed another successful season. Upholding their past tradition, the team again came through with the blue-black banner of JHS held high.

In track each boy has a chance to excel individually, whether it be in track or field events. The field events consist of all the weight, shot-put, discus and jump events. With so many events open, the boys could excel in many of these, but they are limited to three.

Track season began in March under the leadership of head coach Peter Fee. Assisting Coach Fee this year were Coach Michael Forosisky, head field events coach and Coach Willard Fox, supervising race and track events. The healer of aches and pains was, again this year, the popular Edward "Doc" Stofko.

Hardwood Hoopsters

With four senior lettermen forming the nucleus of the team, Johnstown High School's talent laden squad turned in one of their best showings in the school's long history. Tabbed by many as perennial state champs, the Trojans of coach Paul Abele battled stiff competition all season long.

High-scoring Bruce Walton, ranked the 13th high school player in the state, and Pete Poltrack, top rebounder, were the main cogs in the JHS lineup. Al Janezic, sharp-shooting guard, John King, classy playmaker, and Paul Litwalk, gutty competitor, were the three other starters.

The Trojans were aided by a strong bench, who seemed to always come through! These resourceful fellas were led by seniors, Ned Pavlick and Bill Pejack; and juniors, Tunny Gvosdich, Cliff Pallmore, Jerry Hollmon, Bob McCready, Dave Horner, and Gary Grove.

Because this group of boys formed a very fine squad, they were invited to play in the War Memorial Invitational Tournament during the Christmas holidays. Facing three of the toughest teams in the state, the blue and black put on a brilliant exhibition losing the tourney title by only one point, 49-48 to Sharon.

STUDENT LIFE

Long Distance Into Space

(a typical telephone conversation in 2000 A.D.)

by Connie Craig '61

Mars — Hello Venus, this is planet Mars calling. Come in Venus.

Venus — This is Venus, hello Mars.

Mars — I just got back from the planet Earth and I had a very exciting time at the Johnstown High School.

Venus — Yes, tell me more about your visit and what you did.

Mars — Well, I walked in to find a lot of Earth people standing around jabbering in some odd language. After a while, a very piercing bell rang which made my antenna go haywire.

Venus — Well, let's get down to what went on in the school.

Mars — First, we went to a real big empty room which I think they called a Jimnasium! I watched some Earth people hit a big ball across a fishing net. Such silly games!

Venus — Ha! ha! ha! Those Earth people need some mental assistance, I think!

Mars — Then that crazy bell rang and man, did those Earthians run. From one room to the next, up and down steps just like a bunch of ants. You should have been there.

Venus — Well, you know how it is. After colliding with that missile, I wasn't feeling too well. Where did you go next?

Mars — To some class where all they said was x plus y equals xy, ¼x equals 15. Sometimes I wonder if they're really as smart as they try to make us think they are. After sitting in there listening to all that silly jabbering, I thought my wheels were going to go haywire. Then that infernal bell rang and I no sooner got seated in the next class, when clang, clang went another! All the Earthians got up and walked out of the building for a fire drill. I don't get it though. I searched high and low but couldn't find smoke nor flame anywhere.

Venus — Then what happened?

Mars — Well, we went back in and sat down to listen to some real wild singing. This was in Latin class and boy can they sing Christmas carols! One girl sang a solo. She sang so low you couldn't hear her. I was going to ask her what she did with the money her mother gave her for voice lessons!

Venus — Ha! ha! you're really silly! But come on, tell me more.

Mars — I went to the cafeteria next and I had a pretty good lunch compared to those blasted pills I'm always taking. You should see those Earthians feed their faces. They really go to town!

Venus — Forget the food, you're making me hungry, and I'm all out of pills.

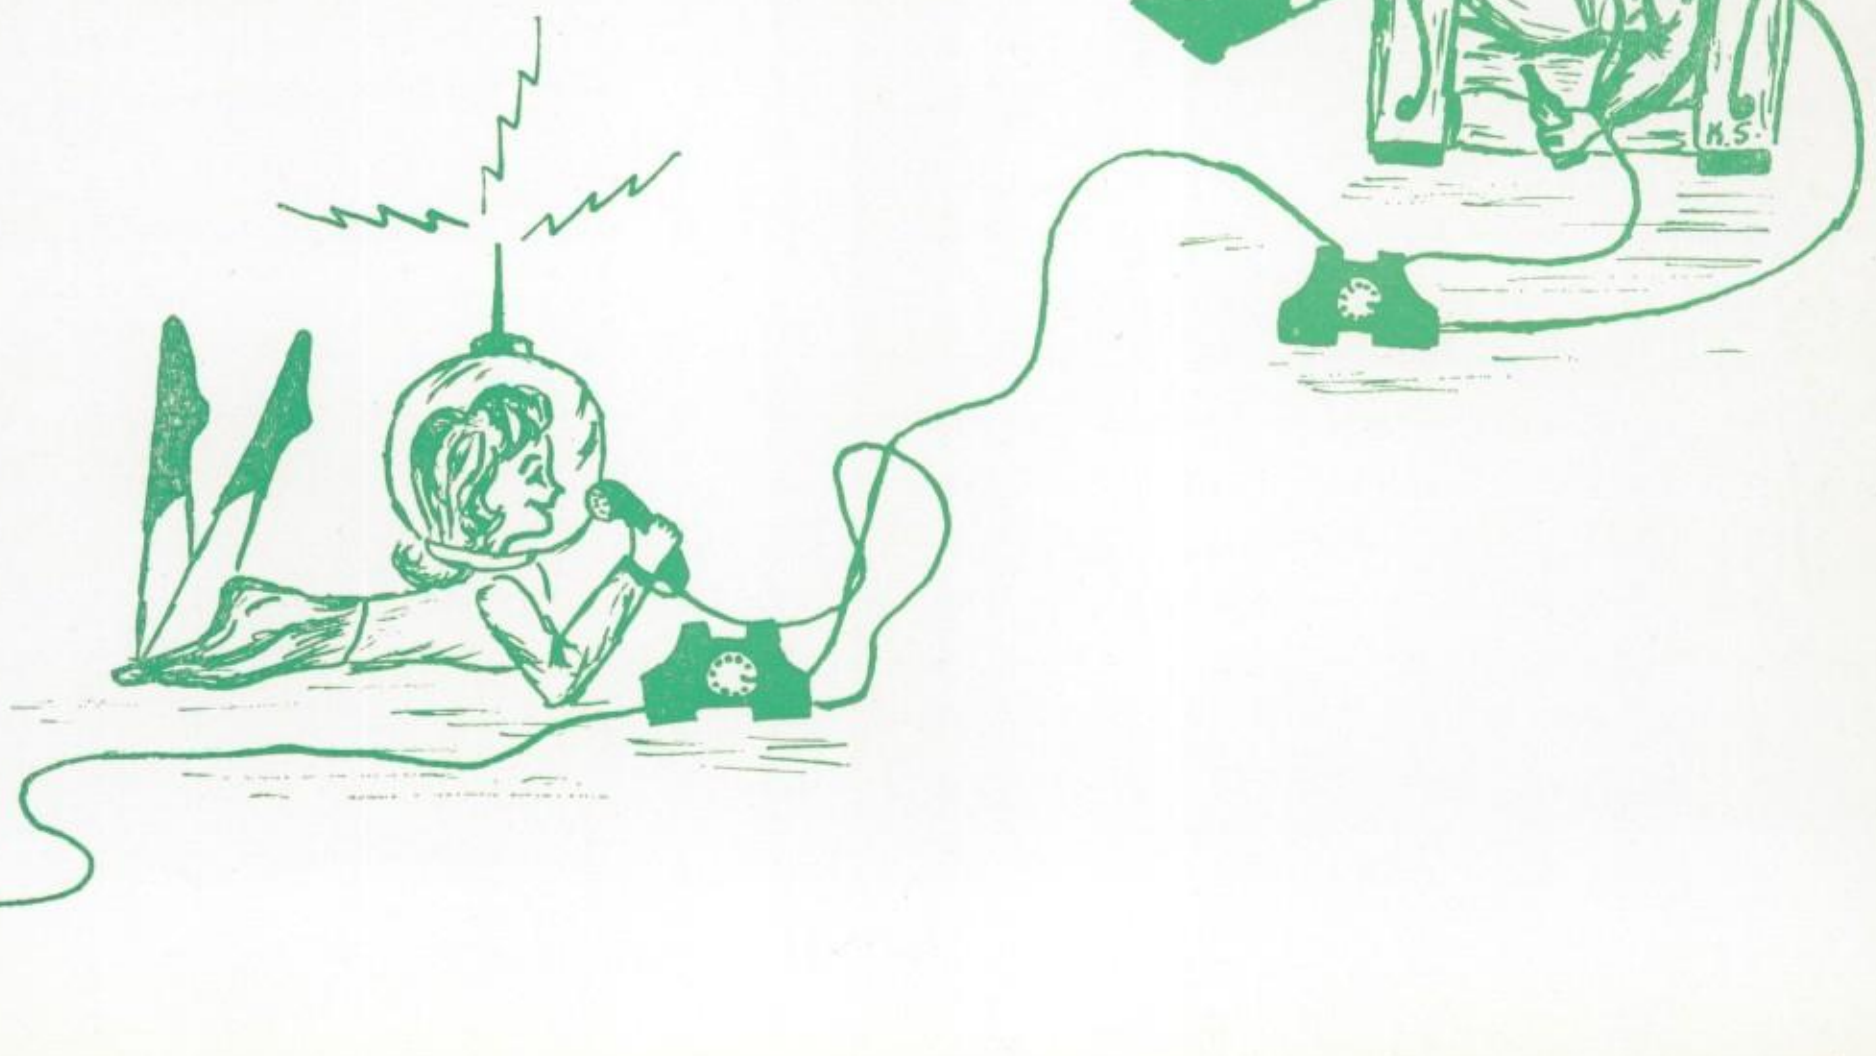
Mars — I visited a lab in the afternoon where they really caused a riot. Man, like what a smell! I could have used a nose plug. I went to the next class to find some female Earthians putting some fancy cloth together. They were using some funny-looking electric machines. They must have been getting ready for a costume party.

Venus — They were sewing, you silly thing.

Mars — Oh well, at least I tried anyway. I also saw some other Earthians making objects out of wood, drawing all kind of funny pictures and printing some words on paper. They said they were making the "Centralizer"—whatever that is!

Venus — Well, Mars, I'm glad you called to tell me about your trip, but I have to go pick up some more pills before it's too late. This is planet Venus signing off. Good-bye Mars.

Mars — Good-bye Venus, I'll call again. Over and out.



A Trip Into Space With the JHS Astronauts

by Dona Rolling '61

Ever been to outer space? Well, if you want to learn the wonders of the universe, why not join the crew of JHS astronauts as we blast off — destination unknown!

Don't worry about comfort or safety on this journey. Our luxurious ship, the "Explorer '61", is in the very capable hands of our pilot, DENNY DISHONG, and co-pilot TONY BIFANO, two of the best ever to graduate from the 4-C Rocket Center, a new training school run by CONNIE CRAIG and CONNIE CHUBA. And our comfort is well provided for in the stylish interior of our ship, designed by HOWIE KARSHIN and ELAINE KRENTZ, who run a terrific new interior decorating firm in Minneapolis. We'll have many tasty meals, all prepared by our master chef, DENNY GRENELL. Before take-off, let me acquaint you with the members of our crew. We are fortunate to have the services of three of the top U.S. scientists, MIKE KONDASH, KERM INMAN, and DAVE AMBROSE, who are joining us in search of new information about the planet Sunev, discovered by JOANIE BONGIOVANNI, JANET MIGUT, and NADIE BOSNIC on one of their recent space explorations. We're also accompanied by international playboy, BRUCE WALTON, who's just coming along for kicks. We are happy to be joined by PAUL GUTILLA, the famous entomologist from the University of Pluto, who is coming along to study the odd bugs of Jupiter. MARY ANN NOVELLO and JOHN KUCENSKI will be with us the first part of the trip, but they won't be returning to Earth with us. They want to open a combination beauty parlor-barber shop on Saturn.

Well, now that you've met the crew, we can blast off. Our first stop is Mars. When we reach the city hall, to pick up our official passports, we see JAY POAD'S brown Chevy, parked right in front of the city hall — in a no-parking zone. JAY better be careful where he parks up here on Mars, or LOUIS LEONARD, the local traffic cop, might give him a ticket. While taking a stroll through the downtown section, we stop to admire a huge new hospital building, and who comes walking out of the door but BOB STRAMANAK, his leg in a cast. BOB tells us that he broke his leg in a wrestling match with PETE POLTRACK, the champion Martian wrestler. We decide to explore the new hospital, and soon find two nurses we recognize, BETTY FACZAN and SANDY SYMONS. They are assisting DR. DOUGLAS CHAMBERS on a delicate brain surgery. The patient is RON SABO, who had his head injured in a stock-car race.

A TYPICAL J. H. S. ASTRONAUT '61

After leaving the hospital, we have lunch at a small restaurant owned by BUD EDKINS and SHARON MATTHEWS. Now we're ready to blast off again. Next stop — Venus.

Upon arrival on Venus, our ship is greeted by the mayor of the capital city, TIM NOPHSKER, and his private secretary COLLEEN LAMBERT. After showing us the official government buildings, which were all designed by the famous architect, RANDY RODKEY, our official guide leaves us to roam around Venus on our own. While strolling through the zoo, where we see some of the strange animals of outer space, we run into two WAC's on a leave, LT. PAT LoSCUDO and SGT. SALLY GOUGHNOUR. As members of th Interplanetary WAC's PAT and SALLY are traveling on a huge ship, the "Space Speedster", which is piloted by CAPT. BILL PEJACK.

An hour later, after lunching with TERRY SCHIFFHAUER, the head zookeeper, we decide to find a good hotel to spend the night. TERRY recommends the Sputnik House. So, after making all the arrangements with the proprietor, SAM POPOLO, we are shown to our luxurious rooms. All of us are very surprised to find that BOB TOTH is our bellboy. BOB is barely out of the room, after receiving a generous tip, of course, when the maid comes in to prepare our beds. We have another surprise when we find that DONNA STEWART is our maid. After DONNA is finished, we finally get settled down for a good night's sleep. We want to rise early the next morning and blast off for Pluto.

We arrive at Pluto the next afternoon, after a very successful trip. We made only one stop on the way — at a refueling station run by EDDIE KWIATKOWSKI. The first thing we do on our visit to Pluto is to take in the latest movie. It's an Academy Award winner, "Planet of Desire", starring two of Hollywood's biggest stars, JOEY TRIGONA and MARY ANN RYAN. While at the theater, we notice many famous people sitting near us. We see DONNA LUGAR, the famous opera star; AL JANEZIC, the president of the National Bachelor's Club back on Earth; JUDY RORABAUGH, the famous Broadway actress; and J. D. TREXEL and KAY BALDWIN, the famous tap-dancing team.

After the movie, we decide to see what an expresso cafe is like on Pluto. We find it to be a dimly-lit, smoky room, just as it would be on Earth. There's a bearded Beatnik in a corner beating on the bongos. It's amazing how much he looks like FRED BARTOK with a beard! (Could it be?) And there's JOLENE MILLER sprawled on the floor in leotards, reading beat poetry. We all order expresso, and recognize the waiter as HENRY STREILEIN. Although we hate to leave this interesting atmosphere, we must get back to the ship. So we hail a cab, and the driver, PORTER SLAGLE, rushes us back to the ship.

Bright and early the next morning, we land on Uranus, where we find a brass band, under the direction of GENE BUCHAN, waiting to greet us. They are playing one of the most popular songs of the day, composed by the promising new song-writer, TOM GALLO. After a tour of the capital city of Uranus, including lunch at BARB BURTON'S Pizzeria, we all hop on a bus which will take us to the biggest fashion salon in the universe, run by BILL DREIKORN, who gets many of his ideas from his chief designer, DENNY DIEHL. Looking out of the bus window, we all wave to ADAM WEIGLE, who is standing on a corner eating Jujy Fruits. We reach the fashion salon in the midst of a showing of gowns, so we sit down to watch the show. The first model is a pretty girl in a tight-fitting black dress, whom we recognize as ANN ANTONIKAS. After leaving the salon, we spend the evening touring the city's night spots. The first place we come to is a big night-club "The Steel Comb", owned and operated by NED "KOOKIE" PAVLICK. The star attraction for this week is JACK METZGAR, who really beats those bongos. We were very happy when NED introduced us to JACK and his assistant, a flute player named SAM MANCUSO. After leaving "The Steel Comb", we head for some other night-spots. Outside a big, brightly-lit club, we find NANCY HILBOKY, who is standing on a soapbox giving a lecture on the evils of alcoholic beverages to the members of the Boys' Pep Club, who are all listening attentively. In front of NANCY'S platform, we see PAT FRIEDMAN with a little tin cup, collecting money for the cause. After tossing a nickle in the cup, we all pay heed to the lecture by going straight back to our spaceship. We're blasting off for Mercury at dawn.

The first thing we do upon landing on Mercury is go straight to the training grounds for the Universal Olympics. In one corner we see BILL TURNER lifting 500-pound barbells. On the other end of the field, the Olympic football team is practicing. There goes the star quarterback, a 320-pound crusher named DENNY GRIFFITHS, scoring a touchdown. On a bench by the side of the field, we see two members of the Olympic tiddly-wink team, JOHN KING and JOHN KNEE. We leave the Olympic grounds after watching a match between the female wrestling champs, JEANNE PYSHNIK and CAROL LINT. On the way back to the city where we had left our spaceship, we stop at a shop selling souvenirs of Mercury, and find CHUCK LaPORTA to be the owner. CHUCK tells us he has a chain of souvenir shops on all the planets. Quite a businessman!

Only one stop left on our way back to Earth — and that's at the moon to see the biggest cheese factory in the universe. In this factory, owned and operated by SHIRLEY SROKA and ANN SEBES, just about every kind of cheese you can think of is manufactured. After an interesting tour of "Cheeses, Inc.", we hop in our good old "Explorer '61" and head for home.

Our trip into space with the JHS astronauts has been an experience we'll never forget, but it sure feels good to be back on Earth.

What Would Your Answer Be?

The Question:

What would you do if you met a spaceman from Mars in the halls of JHS?

Denny Griffiths — Run, unless it was a girl.

Donna Haigh — Introduce him to Mr. Rubis.

Bill Dreikorn — I would say "Hello!"

Ginnie Buckwalter — Ask him to the Pep Club Formal.

Gladys Hill — Oh no, not Mr. K.

Curtis Hardwick — I'd protect and make sure all the girls were safe before trying to capture him.

Allie Berkley — Scream for F. D.

Diana Kinback — If he could play a trumpet, I'd measure him for a band uniform.

Nancy Bennett — Eek!

Becky Hart — Ask him to carry my books.

Carol Lint — Hi, Bill!

John Sears — I'd like to be thinkin' Mr. Weigle did this.

Mary Sullivan — Ask the physiology teacher what makes him tick.

Jonathan Krieger — Hit the trail.

Harry Helt — Quit school.

Pete Chiodo — I'd try to make out with her. (Providing the spaceman was a female).

Gloria Janakovic — Inform him that Halloween was in October.

Ron Freeburn — Ask him if the Russians really hit the moon.

Judy Rose — Hey! Where's your blue and black? It's color day!

Linda Pavian — I probably wouldn't even notice until after 10 A. M.

Janet Mason — (yawn) I must be dreaming.

Rose Rummel — Ask him, "Are you a new student?"

Nancy Hite — I'd run into the girls' room.

Paul Gutilla — Hi, Mr. Rankin.

Carol Kepple — Run!

Connie Craig — Man like shall we dance?

Pat Friedman — Brrr! Brrr!

Jane Eppley — Rush him to 302!!

Shirley Small — Ask him, what subject do you teach?

Sally Goughnour — Yoo, hoo lady. Love ya honey!

Linda McCann — Where's your beanie?

Anonymous — I'd say, "Congratulations, Mr. Alan Shepard."

SALUTE TO HAM

One day in nineteen sixty-one,
A little monkey had some fun,
Into a chair he was tightly strapt,
Around his waist a belt was wrapt.
They placed him on a rocket pad,
Good-byes were wished,
And all were glad.
They brought him bananas and all good things,
Worth more to the chimp than diamond rings.
To fly above the earth so far,
Perhaps to touch a burning star,
The little chimp just crossed his gam,
Fearless and brave was little Ham.
At speed that never had been flown,
The rocket expelled a tiny nose cone,
Around it spinned just like a clam,
And back on earth was our great HAM.

Linda McCann '61

Some Humerous Gems (Cont.)

A SPACE TRIP

Rockets, missiles, space and such,
Have left us in an awful rush,
To the moon we must be fast,
For fear that we will be the last.
Off to the moon in a rocket for hire,
These are the things which we desire.
So on into space we blast off alone,
Oops! Watch the end of the missile's nose cone.
Arriving on Venus, what do I see,
A little green man is staring at me.
His head is quite large and his feet are quite small,
What? Oh, my goodness no body at all.
He's talking to me but I can't comprehend,
What is he saying? I guess its the end;—
So back to the earth in my rocket I'll fly,
While the little green man stands waving good-bye.

Virginia Buckwalter '61

THE SPACE AGE

Rockets, missiles everyplace!
Taking off for outer space.
Every nation sings this tune —
"Who'll be the first to reach the moon?"
The motors blast, the engines roar,
One more rocket makes twenty-four.
Life on the moon seems so inviting,
To me it's anything but exciting.
How come no one thinks of fishin',
Instead of such silly ambition?
Why would anyone want to freeze
On a barren hunk of cheese?
It's hard for me to understand,
I like my feet to be on land.
So, if you want a life of mirth,
You'd better stay right here on earth.

Dona Rolling '61

WHAT NEXT?

It was just an ordinary day,
The sun was shining bright and gay.
I was walking home, the same old walk,
The same old friends, the same old talk.
When hearing a scream to my surprise,
I turned my head, lifted my eyes,
Upward, upward did I glance.
Almost to where the fairies dance.
There, caught in a tree, all tied in a knot,
I saw, to my horror, an astronaut.

Carol James '61

HEAD EXPLOSION

My head explodes at all those thoughts,
Of missiles, jets and astronauts.
Deep inside my little brain,
I wonder why I'm not insane!

The first Sputnik, small and plain,
Then the beeping Vanguard came,
Now they're working on missiles and such,
And spending money, dear knows how much!

The poor, old chimps are suffering, too,
Wishing that they were back in the zoo.
Many humans feel that this race is a waste,
But each rocket launched keeps us up to pace.

Alas, my poor brain is still getting stuffed,
I feel like it soon will be likely to bust.
And if it does, you all will agree,
I've had enough space talk to well orbit me!

Jane Eppley '61

THE LITTLE PURPLE MAN

I heard a knocking on my door,
And wondered who was there.
I looked, and what a funny sight,
A man with purple hair!

He introduced himself as one unknown,
And said he'd like to chat.
I noticed he was oddly dressed,
With an antenna for his hat.

Six arms and legs he proudly bore,
And four eyes instead of two,
Then a funny thought came into mind,
He thinks that I'm odd, too.

Well, we had a long and friendly gab,
About all sorts of things,
And then he said good-bye to me,
As he awkwardly spread his wings.

Outside his ship was waiting,
All ready for him to go,
And in a year or maybe two,
We'll meet again I know.

Connie Craig '61

AUTOMATION

If you want the dishes done,
Push a button, oh what fun!
Want to clean a window sash?
A button does it, like a flash!
Want to turn the lights up bright,
Or make that dress a bit less tight?
Don't want your telephone to ring?
A button does most anything.
Buttons run the largest trains,
And then, too, there's automatic brains!
It seems that we are kept alive,
By buttons, knobs, and all that jive.
Since buttons aid most every end,
I wish just one would be my friend
And in its automatic way,
Do my homework every day.

On a More Serious Note

LAUGH, CLOWN, LAUGH

Life is a circus, the people are clowns,

The act must go in in the smallest of towns.

All heartaches are hidden like dark clouds on high,

And a clown learns to laugh though his heart wants to cry.

Life is marching along, there's no time to be sad,

A smile soothes your heartaches, as good conquers bad.

So laugh, clown, laugh; life is ebbing away

And the world will find joy if you help make it gay.

Kathi George '61

STARS

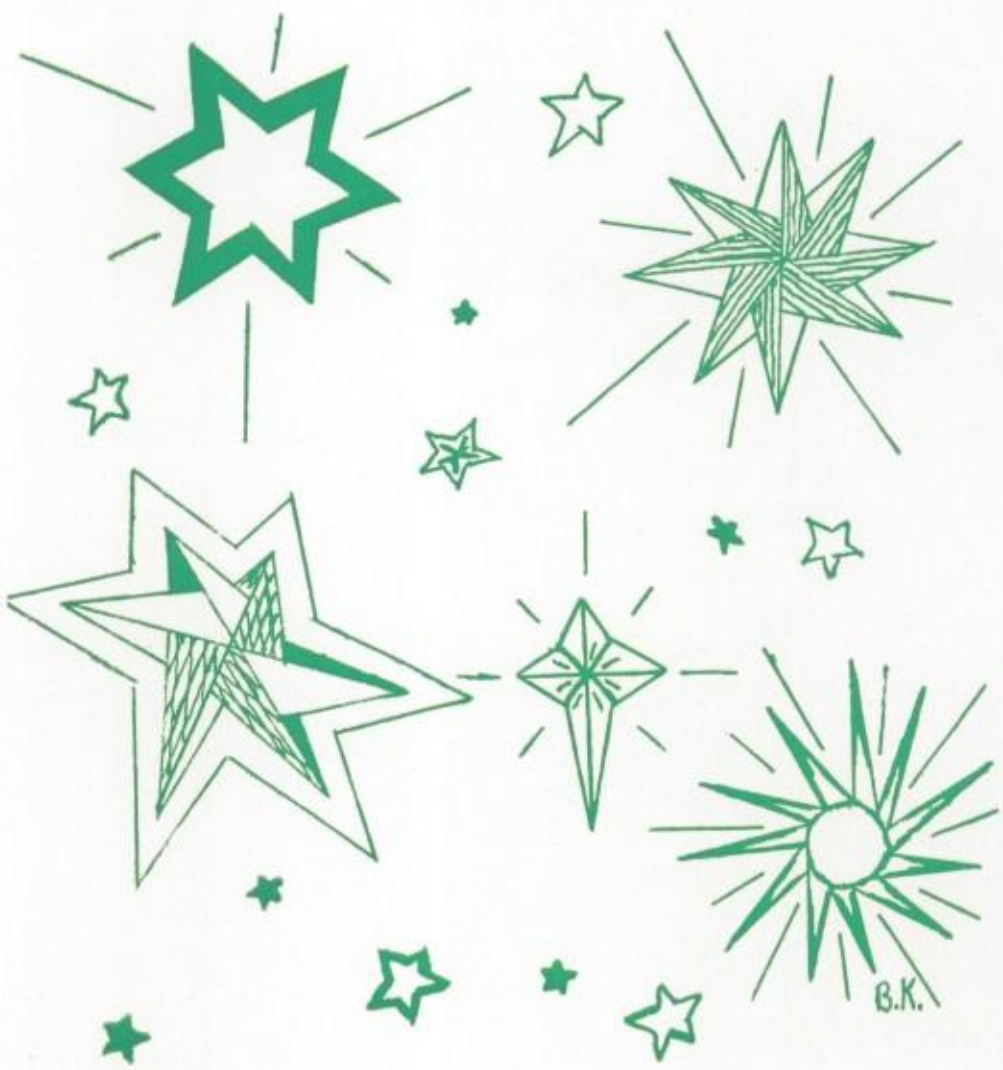
Alone in the night,
On a green velvet hill,
With trees all about me,
So stately and still.

Up in the heavens,
The stars march in rank,
Some of them twinkle,
Like dew on a bank.

I feel like an ant,
So trifle and small,
Wondering how it is possible,
For God to see all.

The sky is so black,
With small dots of light,
Places where stars,
Have torn back the night.

The sun soon arises,
Ushering in the new day
Who will reign on the throne,
While the stars hide away.



Jane Eppley '61

YOUTH

(The following poem was published in The National Anthology of High School Poetry.)

Youth is for the carefree —
She's brimming full of joy,
She is the glow of happiness,
In every girl and boy.

Youth is very beautiful.
Her thoughts are bright and gay,
To her none is so lovely,
As every newborn day.

She's sparked with anxious fire,
Making her daring and bold,
Her wealth is rarely noticed,
Until one has grown old.

Her short life span is frightening —
For she's so quickly through —
She's never truly cherished,
'Til she no more belongs to you.

Dona Rolling '61

WAITING FOR MY BOAT

(The following poem was published in The National Anthology of High School Poetry.)

I am like a passenger waiting for his boat,
Waiting to be taken into the unknown.
I shall not excel upon this earth,
And millions of people will never hear of me.

I may board this boat any day or any night.
At any time the ship may sail away,
I make few dear friends during my life,
For I want no mourners to cry over me.

I don't want a lot of flowers at my feet,
For they soon die and lose their beauty,
But prayers for me, I wish to be said,
For they'll do more good than the fragrance of flowers.

Sandra Osborne '61

WINTER

(The following poem was published in The National Anthology of High School Poetry.)

With a tearful sigh autumn bids farewell,
To the tree-covered mountain and tree-covered dell.
Winter arrives in a flurry of lace,
Her snowflakes tenderly kissing your face.
With Jack Frost, who impishly
    tickles your nose,
And that prankster, the Wind,
    who paws at your clothes,
You say a good-bye to the soft summer rain;
Winter has come to the valley again.

Donna Haigh '61

DEFEAT IS VICTORY

(The following poem was published in The National Anthology of High School Poetry.)

Defeat is victory invisible,
Failure finds success.
Bitter winter waves good-bye to fall,
The poor will find their rainbow,
The rich shall lose their gold.
Slaves enjoy freedom,
The free don't understand.
Each weakness has its strength,
To really laugh, one must cry;
And all amounts to this,
To win, one first must lose.

Mary Ruth Joy '61

STRING QUARTET

(The following poems were published in The National Anthology of High School Poetry.)

The beauty of triumphant strings,
A universal language to all hearts
it brings.
An expression of life, be it joyous
or sorrow,
Showers life a new ray, a new tomorrow.

Florence Torres '61

THE PEACH TREE

Generously sway the finger-like leaves
of the grown-up peach tree,
Absorbing and cherishing the living
beauty of Mother Nature;
Proclaiming to all ends of the earth,
good fruit to be borne,

Farewell to—

MY ALMA MATER

In the shadow of the mountain
Stands my Alma Mater dear,
I hate to think of leaving,
For I've loved each moment here.

I love these halls of ivy,
My memories are here to last,
The football games will also be
A part of this wonderful past.

For the rest of my life,
I will always be,
Grateful to the teachers,
Who helped mold me.

With knowledge galore,
Wisdom and might,
They have opened the door,
To a future that's bright.
